SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 7TH DAY OF MAY, 1903.

D'ORNELLAS

versus

MORRIS.

The plaintiff by this action claims an account from the defendant of her administration of the estate of Julia Jacobs from April, 1882, and payment of one-seventh share of whatever money may be found to belong to her estate and also to be put in possession of one undivided seventh share of the property and effects belonging to the said estate. At the hearing, Counsel for the plaintiff stated that they only claimed in respect of the half of the property in Albert Town bequeathed to Julia Jacobs and others, by Benjamin Thomas Lynch and abandoned all other claims.

It appears that lot No. 60, Albert Town, which is the lot in question, was on the 9th January, 1843, transported to Benjamin and Margaret Lynch, the defendant. Benjamin Thomas Lynch, the father of Benjamin and Margaret Lynch, by his will, which was deposited in the Registrar's Office on the 22nd May, 1854, bequeathed to his daughter Margaret Lynch, "a half lot of land situated in Albert Town "with a house thereon," and the remaining half lot of land he bequeathed to Caroline Lynch, Julia Jacobs, and Eleanor Elizabeth Henden. It is admitted that this lot so bequeathed by Benjamin Thomas Lynch, is lot 60, Albert Town. It is not shown how Benjamin Thomas Lynch became possessed of the lot, but it is said he acquired a half thereof as heir of his deceased son Benjamin. Whether Benjamin Thomas Lynch had any right to deal with this property in the way he did appears to me to be immaterial for the purposes of this suit. The bequest to the defendant of a half of a lot with a house on it seems to me to be a specific bequest of the particular half which had the house on it. From the evidence it is clear it was so understood by the parties. Since 1854, the defendant has been in possession of her half and Eleanor Elizabeth Henden, afterwards Mrs. Jackson, was in possession of the other half for herself and as agent of the plaintiff mother. Mrs. Jackson left the colony and went to Trinidad since which time the defendant has been collecting the rent of a house built by Mrs. Jackson on her half of the land and possible also the rent of a portion of her half leased out. Under these circumstances, I do not consider that the plaintiff and defendant are co-owners of the whole lot in undivided shares, and that there is on that ground any duty cast on the defendant to account to the plaintiff. Whatever the defendant has received was as agent of Mrs. Jackson. The defendant never administered the estate of Julia Jacobs. The plaintiff may or may not have an action against Mrs. Jackson, but in my opinion he cannot sue the defendant as agent of Mrs. Jackson for an account, even if he had so brought his claim.

In these reasons I think the plaintiff's claim fails, and there will be judgment for the defendant with costs.

INSOLVENCY JURISDICTION.

THIS 7TH DAY OF MAY, 1903.

Re A. M. DA SILVA,

Ex parte C. D. STRAUSS & CO.

This is a petition by A. D. Strauss & Co. that a Receiving order be made in respect of the estate of Abel Maria Da Silva. The grounds on which the petition is opposed are stated shortly: (1) that there was no existing debt of Da Silva to the petitioners; (2) that the petition was presented, not with the bona fide view of obtaining an adjudication, but for a collateral purpose; (3) that A. M. Da Silva has not committed the act of insolvency alleged, viz., suspended payment of his debts, and (5), if he has suspended payment, it was by the act of the petitioners who prevented him paying his debts.

It is said that no instalments of the mortgage passed by Da Silva in favour of the petitioners were actually payable at the date of the petition, and that, therefore, the petitioners were not entitled to present an insolvency petition. Under section 5 (b) of the Insolvency Ordinance, 1900, a debt "payable at some future time" is sufficient to entitle a creditor to present an insolvency petition. Under the mortgage there is a debt payable by certain instalments, some of which are payable at a future fixed date, it is admitted there is a large amount payable under the mortgage, whether the amount is presently payable is immaterial, the creditor has the right to petition.

From the evidence, it appears that the attorney of the petitioners came to the colony for the express purpose of winding up Da Silva, it was arranged in the office of Da Silva's solicitor, that Da Silva should consent to judgment on the mortgage and his affairs be wound up, after which the creditors promised him further support. Instead of consenting to judgment Da Silva applied for and obtained leave to defend the action brought to foreclose the mortgage. The petitioners shortly thereafter presented this petition. It is contended that the petition is not bona fide but only presented for the purpose of bringing pressure to bear on Da Silva. The cases dealing with this question are considered in re Baker, ex parte Baker 5, Morrell 5. I do not consider that this petition on the principles laid down in that case can be said to be an abuse of the process of the Court. The petition is not presented for a collateral purpose or for any purpose other than winding up the affairs of the debtor. It is not done to compel the debtor to pay other than in the course of insolvency the debt due to the petitioners. There is, to my mind, no collateral object.

It is clear from the evidence and the letters written by Da Silva to his creditors that he had suspended payment of his debt other than the debt due to the mortgagees. The bills drawn by N. & M. Smith on Da Silva and accepted by him were unpaid, some of these acceptances were due before the passing of the mortgage. To my mind, even before the passing of the mortgage Da Silva had suspended payment of his debts within the meaning of the Insolvency Ordinance, 1900, which makes the suspension an act of insolvency, a provision which is not found in the English Bankruptcy Act.

It is contended that the suspension of payment of his debts by Da Silva is to be attributed to the act of the petitioners and that therefore the petitioners cannot avail themselves of that suspension as an act of insolvency. By the mortgage passed by Da Silva in favour of the petitioners all monies received by the business of Da Silva were to be paid in to the bank in the joint names of Da Silva and the petitioners. Da Silva in his evidence says he was unable to pay his debts as the petitioners Attorney refused to sign cheques with him for that purpose, and therefore he was unable to get the money from the Bank. Before the mortgage, however, it appears to me that Da Silva had suspended payment. From the evidence of Carvalho it appears that the money in the Bank was wanted to pay the instalments of the mortgage, salaries of clerks, &c. I do not consider that by refusing to sign the cheques the petitioners prevented Da Silva paying his creditors. It is quite clear from the whole course of his transactions that Da Silva was not in a position to pay his creditors. Possibly if the cheques had been signed he would have paid certain individual creditors, but he would certainly have suspended or as his Counsel puts it, have postponed payment to others. On the face of his letters to Messrs. Schloss & Co., of 25th February, 1903, and other letters it is clear that the debtor himself of his own free will suspended payment. The case of In re Grafton, 4 M. D. & D. 401, referred to by Counsel for the debtor, hardly applies. In that case the creditor had summoned the debtor to pay within twenty-one days, the creditor kept out of the way to avoid receiving the debt and in his absence the debtor made a tender of the whole debt to the managing clerk of the petitioner who refused to receive it, under these circumstances there was held to be no act of bankruptcy as the non-payment was caused by the act of the creditor not of the debtor. The proof that the act of insolvency was brought about by the act of the creditor is on the debtor. I do not consider the evidence shows this. I am satisfied from the whole of the evidence that it was the debtor's deliberate intention to suspend or postpone payment of his debts other than the mortgagees. I do not consider, taking all the circumstances of this case into consideration, that it would be inequitable to make the order asked for.

I therefore make the order asked for and grant the petitioners their costs.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

12th April, 1903.

THE following Report by J. E. Beckett, Esquire, Assistant Instructor in Agriculture, on his visits to Buxton, Friendship, Beterverwagting and Plaisance is published for general information.

OSCAR WEBER,

Secretary.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE,

GEORGETOWN, DEMERARA,

9th March, 1903.

Sir,—I have the honour to forward herewith Mr. Beckett's Report on his recent visits of inspection to the Villages of Buxton and Friendship, Beterverwagting and Plaisance, and also of his inspection of the "Sendall Park."

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

R. WARD.

Prof. J. B. Harrison, M.A., C.M.G.,

Deputy Chairman, Board of Agriculture.

March 9th, 1903.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE EXPERIMENTAL FIELDS.

Sir,—I have the honour to report on my recent visits in connection with the forthcoming Prize Competition, to the Villages of Buxton, Beterverwagting, and Plaisance, and also of an inspection of the Sendall Park, Belfield, on the 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 6th of March.

On three occasions I was accompanied by Mr. T. Bruce-James of the Botanic Gardens.

According to my instructions I was to make a further selection of the names of possible prize winners, so as to facilitate the final prize-giving.

2. Buxton and Friendship.

Here the extent of cultivation is very considerable, but, as has been before reported, it is very inferior.

Since the visits of the instructors, however, there has, on the whole, been a slight improvement. The following are the names of the owners of beds which might obtain prizes :—

Geo. Potsmouth.
Michael Benjamin.
Edw. Benn.
Jos. Watson.
M. Dussell.
Sam. Gill.

For consideration the following names might also be mentioned :—

Jno. Fereira.
Jos. McGarrell.
Abraham Adonis.
Simon Allick.

Beterverwagting.

As mentioned before the cultivation consists chiefly of that of the sugar cane, and is on the whole of a higher grade than that of the other two Villages, though still very poor. The cultivation is also less extensive than that of the other Villages, tapering as it does at the "Service" Canal to a width of not more than fifteen rods.

The great emphasis that has been laid on the absolute necessity of digging the side line has not been without some effect, as the Council has already finished the digging of some 300 rods running from "Pompey's Dam" to "Orange Dam," of the western side line trench.

The following names were selected :—

Thos. Lloyd.
H. Texeira.
Stephen Beveney.
G. Liverpool.
Thos. Edwards
Chas. Rodney.
Henry Rodney.
Jas. McMillan.
M. Izore.
Jos. Redmond.

Plaisance.

The township drainage has been improved, and we are making special efforts to try and induce the farmers to join together and improve the drainage of their cultivation aback.

The cultivation is inferior to either Beterverwagting or Buxton, but is more extensive than the former, while not nearly so much so as the latter.

Owing to the slight improvement in the drainage the front lands are now being put into cultivation, under rice, plantains, &c.

The names selected were as follows :—

Nunes.
Thos. Bunbury.
V. C. Bunbury.
Játoo
Titus Roberts.
M. Fereira.
Elizabeth Jackson.
Anne Easton.

3. Difficulties of Selection and of Judging.

Where there are so many beds of nearly a uniform level of merit, it has been difficult to make any selection, and we had great difficulty in doing so.

Special mention must be made of the difficulty of selecting beds in the sea of cultivation of plantains of the new empoldered land aback of Plaisance, where there was hardly any appreciable differences in the beds, and where the cultivation may possibly be better than that of the mixed cultivation of the front lands, though comparison is hardly possible.

Beds of ripe canes and young canes have to be compared, and beds under mixed cultivation with some entirely under plantains, or again with beds of cacao and coffee, and with others of mixed cultivation of ground provisions and a few permanent fruit trees.

4. Distribution of Prize Money.

The state of the cultivation of all these villages is still poor, but the agricultural spirit of the people is yet in its infancy, and at this stage we cannot exact as high a standard of merit as is desirable, and which will in the future be possible. The people, too, are of a class who are easily discouraged, so that if the judging is characterised by too high a standard, the chances are that the farmers will slip back to a worse state of affairs, at a time when they are inclined to become intelligent, hardworking tillers of the soil. Only too great is the tendency even now to settle down into their old, easy, slipshod, lazy way of working.

It is sincerely to be hoped that this awakening may not be nipped in the bud, by a criticism for which the time is not yet ripe.

Unfortunately wrong ideas about the competition are afloat. In many cases the people seem to think that they are each to get some small gratuity from the Government to help them to stem the torrent of "hard times," which has overtaken them. This, no doubt, has originated from the refund of the acreage tax to cane farmers, etc. Hence many will be disappointed, as in spite of our having done our very best to erase this false impression, it is still surprisingly firmly stamped. Of the sum of $100 available for distribution, I would very respectfully suggest that it be divided as follows:—

To Beterverwagting, as being the best cultivated Village$40
To Buxton and Friendship, in consideration of the extent of cultivation...	$35
To Plaisance	$25

5. General Remarks.

At present the motive for improving their methods is, I feel sure, a wrong one, springing from the hope of obtaining money from the Government. This spirit will be overcome in time; at present, we never lose an opportunity in our talks with the people, to try and raise them to a more honourable and sensible feeling.

Already, amongst the older men, the idea of degradation in pursuing agriculture is being dissipated, and when properly conducted school gardens are at work, the younger generation will come under their beneficial usages.

While it is impossible to ignore the plantain with the present quick money market it commands, the prize-giving ought, however, to be made as encouraging as possible to the owners of beds, where attempts (though they are poor) have been made to establish more permanent crops, such as good fruit trees, coffee, &c., &c. The yield, vigour and general health of the last-named, even though badly neglected show the adaptability of the soil for raising crops of such an important product as this.

Encouragement should especially be given to those who show good methods of tillage and drainage, as the want of these are the two most glaring defects.

Consideration might be shown for the fact that in the new lands aback the soil is better than that in the front lands. Hence, though the cultivation may have been conducted on sounder lines by a farmer owning beds at the front, his growth, &c., may not compare favourable with a more negligent worker of the higher back lands.

Predial larceny calls for attention, as the farmers in all these villages are bitter in their complaints against this nuisance.

Where possible it would be very much better for farmers to make their homes on the cultivated lands aback, when better attention and interest would be paid to their beds, and the children would take early to the liking of the practice of agriculture.

6. Sendall Park.

This so-called Park was, I believe, opened with quite a flourish of trumpets by the promoters. Now, at first sight, it looks no more than the usual stretch of bare, treeless pasture land.

On closer inspection, however, one notices a raised circle in the middle of the Park with two paths leading north and south, which have been treated to a covering of shell, over which the grass grows greenly.

The one tree, which, I understand, was planted by the Hon. A. M. Ashmore, has been guarded by an iron fence and is in need of weeding, &c.

Some one would seem to have conceived the idea of digging a ditch around the Park, to have carried a few rods of this idea into execution and then to have stopped.

This ditch has been dug so close to the tree that the latter is in danger of slipping in. Should this tree perish I do not think there will be left one single large-growing tree to grace the 'Park.'

Some mention was made of the possible forming of a cricket pitch. Were Saman trees planted around the ground and a good pitch established, the promoters would have, at least, accomplished something definite.

7. My thanks are due to Mr. T. Bruce-James for the valuable help he has afforded me in the selection of beds for competition.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

EDGAR BECKETT.

NOTICE.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE,

29th April, 1903.

THE following return showing the area under cultivation with varieties of Sugar-cane other than Bourbon, is published for general information.

OSCAR WEBER,
Secretary.

VARIETIES OF SUGAR-CANE OTHER BOURBON IN BRITISH GUIANA.

The following is a summary compiled from the returns rendered to the Sugar-Cane Experiments Committee, in answer to its circular letter of January 3rd, 1903.

Varieties of canes other than Bourbon are being grown on 27 plantations in the County of Demerara, 8 in the County of Essequibo, and 11 in the County of Berbice; or on 46 plantations in British Guiana.

Of these plantations 35 have areas of more than one acre of one kind of variety under cultivation; 22 of them are in Demerara, 5 in Essequibo and 7 in Berbice. The remaining 11, 4 of which are in Demerara, 3 in Essequibo and 4 in Berbice, have only small areas of varieties of canes used as nurseries in order to obtain canes for planting out larger areas.

Many of the plantations which are growing varieties of canes on a relatively large scale have nurseries of several or of many varieties, the cultivation of which they intend to gradually extend.

There are four (4) plantations in British Guiana on which the Bourbon is the only kind of cane cultivated, and these are estates occupied as cane farms. One of these plantations is in Demerara, one in Essequibo, and two are in Berbice.

The areas used for the experimental cultivation of the varieties other than Bourbon on the estates participating in the enquiry vary very greatly, from two acres as the minimum to about 1,900 as the maximum.

One plantation in Demerara has an area of over 1,800 acres occupied by large scale experiments with varieties of canes, while one in Berbice has over 1,400 acres similarly occupied.

The following shows the various acreages devoted to these experiments:—

The returns show that in British Guiana 9,518 acres are occupied with large scale experiments in varieties of sugar-cane other than Bourbon, 6,859 acres being in Demerara, 2,132 in Berbice, and 527 in Essequibo.

The following shows the varieties other than Bourbon, which are at present being cultivated in British Guiana on areas of more than one acre in extent:—

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 15TH DAY OF MAY, 1903.

Reverend NASH, Appellant,
versus

T. FLOOD, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the decision of the Magistrate of the West Coast Judicial District, who found in favour of the plaintiff for the sum of $40 claimed as rent of the Manager's house at Blankenburg.

The reasons of appeal are:—

(1.) That illegal evidence has been admitted by the Magistrate, and that there is not sufficient legal evidence to sustain the decision after rejecting such illegal evidence.

(2.) That the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence in like manner as if the case had been tried by a jury there would not have been sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict.

(3.) That the decision is erroneous in point of law, because at the time of the alleged hiring by the respondent to the appellant, the appellant was acting as an agent and disclosed that fact to the respondent and also disclosed the name of his principal, who was thereupon exclusively debited by the respondent with the rent claimed and from whom alone such rent was demanded.

Reason 1 was abandoned at the hearing of the appeal.

The learned counsel for the appellant argued that the learned Magistrate was not justified in drawing the conclusions he did from the evidence, and this is the real basis of the appeal.

In the reasons for decision the Magistrate remarks "It seems to me plaintiff dealt with defendant as Principal, and the account v. the executor was an after thought at the instance of Mr. Bagot. Plaintiff, however, I think, treated defendant as the contracting party with him ab initio. I do not think the $40 is an excessive charge for goods and 80 heads cattle and 6 horses to be put in a private house for sale too, and the day of sale not fixed."

The case of High Street Stables v. Pepplette was referred to.

The Magistrate does not in so many words say that the price agreed on was $40, but I do not think there can be any doubt that his decision indicates that as he uses the words "contracting party."

The evidence showed that the defendant in the Court below, at a late hour at night, went to the plaintiff to make what arrangements he could for the sale of the effects of the late Mr. Bruce.

Arrangements were made between plaintiff and defendant and the mere mentioning of the fact that there was an executor, would not release the defendant from his liability if he was the contracting party. Some of the cattle belonged to the defendant himself.

I think the Magistrate was justified in his deduction from the evidence, and I dismiss the appeal with costs.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

JOHN CORREIA, Appellant,
versus

A. DE MATTOS, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the decision of the Magistrate of the East Coast Judicial District, who gave judgment for the plaintiff in the Court below for $7.50 and costs, loss suffered by the non delivery of a bag of sugar which the defendant by his servant contracted to carry and deliver.

The reasons of appeal are:—

1. That the decision is erroneous in point of law.
(a) It was not established at the hearing that the defendant was a common carrier as alleged in the Plaintiff.

(b) It was not proved that the man Samuel Hope was the servant or agent of the defendant, or that cart No. 13 was the property of the defendant.

(c) That even if the said bag of sugar, the subject of the claim, was delivered to cart No. 13 for conveyance from Georgetown to Buxton as alleged, the evidence showed it was a gratuitous bailment and there is an entire absence of proof of gross or palpable negligence on the part of the defendant.

2. That the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence in like manner as if the case had been tried by a jury there would not have been sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict.

The Magistrate in his reasons for decision says, in giving my decision I would put aside Hope's evidence which is unreliable and worthless. I consider the other evidence is sufficient to show that Hope was the servant of the defendant Correia who was a common carrier on the day in question. That Hope contracted to carry and did receive and carry a bag of sugar for the plaintiff and failed to deliver the same in due course whereby the plaintiff suffered loss.

In arguing the appeal the Solicitor for the appellant endeavoured to show that there was no evidence of a contract for hire inasmuch as no price was mentioned at the time; but it was clearly proved that Hope had carried sugar for the plaintiff before and had always been paid 16 cents which was the regular tariff charge by cartmen such as Hope who carry for any one. It appears that the sugar was dropped not at the usual place, but on the dam and was stolen. It was contended that the bag of sugar was delivered at the usual place and that Hope was in the employ of one Manoel Correia who however was not called.

The Magistrate found on the facts that Hope was the servant of John Correia, and that he contracted to carry and deliver a bag of sugar and that after receiving it he failed to deliver it.

There was sufficient to justify this finding as also that the contract was to carry for hire, and I do not disturb the finding of the Magistrate.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.
GENERAL CIVIL JURISDICTION.

THIS 15TH DAY OF MAY, 1903.

MARSHALL, Plaintiff

versus

Executors of JAMES THOMSON, Deceased, Defendants.

The plaintiff in this action claims that the defendants be ordered to render certain accounts and to pay such amounts as may appear to be due to him on such accounts being taken, and that they be restrained by injunction from parting with their testator's estate until such payment has been made. No interrogatories have been administered and the case stands for decision on the pleadings and evidence adduced by the parties.

The first account asked for is an account of the property of Amy Lucille, the testator's daughter, in the custody, possession or power of the testator at the time of her marriage with the plaintiff. The plaintiff, by virtue of his marriage with her in community of goods on the 23rd September, 1899, and of her death intestate and without issue on the 13th March, 1900, is entitled to three-fourths of the property of his deceased wife, but cannot, so far as this part of the case is concerned be regarded as having any greater rights than Mrs. Marshall would have had if now alive. The sole ground laid in the Statement of Claim for asking for this account is the allegation that J. Thomson wrongfully and without the knowledge of the plaintiff retained in his possession, after the marriage, property belonging to Mrs. Marshall. Having regard to the form of the denial in the Statement of Defence, the defendants must, we think, be held to have admitted the fact of the retention by their testator of some such property, though denying that such retention was wrongful and without the plaintiff's knowledge and consent. This admission, however, gives no information as to what, or how much property was so retained and is consistent with such property having been solely the share in the British Guiana Bank, which the plaintiff states is now in his possession or under his control, and the Tramway shares the proceeds of which were paid to his wife during the coverture, and the plaintiff has not, in our opinion proved the allegation on which he relies and which is very vague and general in its terms. No evidence has been given that any other property of Mrs. Marshall's beside that just mentioned was in the possession or under the control of James Thomson at the date of her marriage much less that it was wrongfully retained by him after that date. The only other property mentioned in the evidence and claimed to have at one time belonged to her consists of certain British Guiana Bank shares standing in the name of J. Thomson for the minor A. L. Thomson, all of which (save the one now in the plaintiff's possession), were on or before the 31st October, 1892 transferred to other persons; some Hand-in-Hand scrip which in June, 1898 was transferred to the estate of C. A. Thomson, deceased; some British Guiana Mutual Fire Insurance Coy. scrip transferred in June, 1898, under an authority given by A. L. Thomson, to the estate of C. A. Thomson, deceased; and two legacies of $100 and $400, respectively under the several wills of E. A. Van Kinschot, who died in 1885, and A. Rose, who died in 1887. It appears from Colonel Marshall's evidence that his wife was 27 or 28 years old when she married in 1899. She was therefore of full age in 1898 when the scrip already mentioned was transferred, (and some of it at any rate transferred under an express authority given by her); there is no evidence to show who received the purchase money on the transfers and it cannot be assumed, his daughter being then of full age, that it was received by J. Thomson and not duly paid over or otherwise accounted for. We should hesitate to hold that the allegation already mentioned in the Statement of Claim was sufficient to enable the plaintiff to obtain an account of J. Thomson's transactions as guardian of his daughter during her minority, and even if the plaintiff be now allowed on these pleadings to ask for such an account, the Court must (as contended by the defendant's counsel) consider the effect of lapse of time just as if the defendants had had the opportunity of pleading prescription. This being so, we think that as to the British Guiana Bank shares transferred by J. Thomson as guardian of his minor daughter on and before 31st October, 1892, that prima facie Mrs. Marshall herself if now alive could not call J. Thomson or his estate to account for his transactions in respect thereof as her guardian (Ord. 1 of 1856, sect. 4), and that it is not shown by the pleadings or evidence that this is not the case and that the plaintiff can therefore now do this; and as to the two legacies, it is we think a fair inference in the absence of evidence to the contrary and having regard to the dates on which the two testatrix died that those legacies if received at all were received by J. Thomson during his daughter's minority and are, therefore subject, to the principle just laid down, and even if it were not so we think the Court cannot in these proceedings take the accounts of the two estates just referred to. There is not in the pleading any allegation that J. Thomson acted as his daughter's agent at any time or of undue influence nor is there any evidence before us of misconduct on his part or of his having acted in the capacity of agent, at any rate within the four years preceding this action. Under these circumstances, the plaintiff has not, in our opinion by his pleadings and evidence, made out a case entitling him to this account.

Passing by for the moment the second account mentioned, the third account asked is an account of the affairs and property of James Thomson at the date of the death of his wife C. A. Thomson. The plaintiff bases his claim to this account on the ante nuptial contract of the 8th December, 1893, between J. Thomson and his wife and on an alleged election by J. Thomson as her executor to share in the profits and losses made and sustained during the marriage. By that contract the parties agreed to bring in for the support of the marriage all property they then severally possessed or might thereafter acquire, but stipulated that there should be no community of property between them as regarded the property they then possessed or might thereafter acquire or become entitled to; that neither party should be liable for the debts of the other already contracted or to be contracted during the marriage; that C. A. Thomson might during the marriage in case of need or after its dissolution have the right at her own free will to share in the profits and losses arising during the marriage or to content herself with taking back the property brought by her into the marriage at the time of its taking place or subsequently acquired by her with all its improvements ameliorations and increase, the period of six months after the dissolution being granted her for the purpose of declaring her choice, and that J. Thomson should not alienate or burden his wife's property without her written consent. The effect of these provisions was in our opinion, to exclude community of goods however and whenever acquired by either of the parties and also of profit and loss (Boyes v. Verzigman, Cape Reports 9 Juta 229, Van d. Kees, 99, Voet ad Pand. xxiii. 4. 71, Ad. General v. Sardinha, Supreme Court, 4 Ap. 1898), to leave to J. Thomson the fructus or annual produce of his wife's property (Voet ad Pand. xxiii. 3. 19 and 4 §§ 16 and 32; xxiv. 3. 12) while restraining his power of using the capital thereof and to exclude the wife from any share in what are termed "the profits and losses arising during the marriage" unless she elected to share therein. The plaintiff's case, according to his pleadings, is that J. Thomson as executor of C. A. Thomson's will elected to share in such profits and losses, but the evidence is, in our opinion, insufficient to establish this, and the plaintiff cannot now set up a case inconsistent with that made by his pleadings. (Cargill v. Bower, 10 Ch. D. 508.) It is, therefore, unnecessary to consider whether having regard to the omission in the contract of any reference to her heirs, the heirs of C. A. Thomson could have exercised the right of election, and if so, whether the executor of her will could legally do this, or to enter on the questions whether the plaintiff could be considered to be her heir, and whether any election could, having regard to the time which has elapsed since the dissolution of the marriage, now be made. No sufficient ground having been shewn to exist for ordering this account of the affairs and property of J. Thomson the Court cannot direct the executors to render it.

The second and fourth accounts prayed relate to the estate of C. A. Thomson and are: (2) an account of the dealings and intromissions of J. Thomson with the property estate and effects of C. A. Thomson from the date of their marriage to the date of her death on the 11th August, 1897, and (4) an account of the dealings and intromissions of J. Thomson with the estate of C. A. Thomson from the date of her death to the date of his death, on the 16th April, 1902.

The plaintiff is, in our opinion, entitled to some accounts of the estate of C. A. Thomson though not (at any rate at the present time) to accounts precisely in the form asked. By the antenuptial contract already mentioned, J. Thomson's position under the common law of the colony as administrator and manager of his wife's property during marriage, is expressly recognised (cl. 5), the only modification thereof being the prohibition to alienate or burden her property without her written consent. No case of fraud or the like (Voet ad Pand. xxiv. 3. 14, xxiii. 2. 54) or of breach of that prohibition, or of mixing of her estate and his own having been made out, J. Thomson himself could not, in our opinion, (Van der Kees. Sel. Thes. 91; Burge For. and Col. Laws Vol. 1 p. 301, s. iv.) and a fortiori his executors, cannot be called on to render an account of all his dealings and intrusions with C. A. Thomson's estate during the marriage. But C. A. Thomson's estate under the provisions already mentioned of her antenuptial contract was entitled to obtain "the property brought by her into the said marriage at the time of the same taking place and subsequently acquired by her with all its improvements, ameliorations and increase" and would, in our opinion, have had the right after her death, to obtain from J. Thomson under whose administration and management such property had been a full and complete statement of what such property, with its improvements, ameliorations and increase, consisted of and of any claims against or in respect of it or payable therefrom, which he might legally make, and the plaintiff as entitled to her estate, can, we think, claim now to obtain from the executors of J. Thomson who have taken possession of all the property in his possession or under his control at the time of his death and of all his books, papers and documents, an account of this nature as far as the books, papers, documents and other information in their possession enable them to render it.

As to the fourth account asked, by the will of C. A. Thomson dated 14th February, 1877, which has been put in evidence, the usufruct of all her property and estate was given to J. Thomson, the ownership of the property and estate being left to her daughter A. L. Thomson, afterwards Mrs. Marshall, and J. Thomson was appointed sole executor. It has been argued that as J. Thomson may have sold shares and similar investments forming part of his wife's estate when the market price was high and subsequently repurchased other investments of the same kind when the market price was low, an account of all his dealings and intrusions should be ordered to ascertain whether this was so, and it found to be so he should be ordered to account for the profits made by so dealing with the investments. No foundation is laid either by the pleadings or evidence for contending that any of the investments forming part of C. A. Thomson's estate were so dealt with, and the Court cannot assume this to be the case. It may be that a usufructuary who makes a profit by unauthorised dealing with capital of which he is not the owner but the usufructuary only is bound to account to the owner of the capital for such profit, but however that may be we think that the fact that a person is a usufructuary does not per se and without any allegation or proof of such unauthorised dealing entitle such owner to an account for the purpose of discovering whether there has been any such wrongful dealing with capital. It is the duty of a usufructuary to leave the property of which he has the usufruct in the same condition on the determination of his usufruct as that in which it previously was, and if this duty is fulfilled prima facie no obligation to account lies on him or his estate. We think, therefore, the account as asked cannot at this stage of the proceedings at any rate be ordered on this ground. The plaintiff is, however, entitled by virtue of his marriage with A. L. Thomson in community of goods and of her death intestate and without issue, to three-fourths of C. A. Thomson's estate and under the will of J. Thomson, to the remaining one-fourth; and, even if (which it is not necessary at this stage to decide) he is bound so far as that fourth is concerned by the statement in J. Thomson's will as to the value of that estate and the particulars of which it consists, he can, we think, as owner of the other three-fourths claim an account showing of what such estate consisted at the termination of the usufruct and what sums expended during the usufruct in respect of repairs or otherwise the usufructuary claimed to be repaid, and J. Thomson having likewise been executor of C. A. Thomson's estate this account should also show what sums (if any) were paid thereout by him in that capacity.

The accounts to be rendered will therefore be limited to the two we have mentioned, which although not specifically asked, may, we think, be granted on these pleadings as if the plaintiff had in his statement of claim asked for general and other relief (Order xviii., Rule 3.) The view we have taken of this case renders it unnecessary to decide whether an executor is in general bound to account for all the intrusions of his testator as executor of another testator, nor can we at this stage of the proceedings deal with the questions raised during the argument as to the effect of J. Thomson's omission to make an inventory of his wife's estate, in shifting the burden of proof as to what it consisted of or as to the construction to be placed on the words "improvements, ameliorations and increase" in the antenuptial contract, or as to other points which may arise on the rendering and debating of the accounts. The plaintiff is, we think, entitled to have as asked by him, the limited injunction already granted continued until the final order of the Court after the accounts ordered have been closed, and the question of costs is reserved till the final decision of the case.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 15TH DAY OF MAY, 1903.

HING CHEONG & CO., Appellants,
versus

GONSALVES, Respondent.

This is an appeal by the complainant in the Court below from a decision of Mr. P. H. R. Hill, Assistant Police Magistrate of Georgetown, acquitting the respondent on a charge of embezzlement.

The Magistrate's reason for his decision is as follows: "That the evidence to my mind is not conclusive without that of Vieira, who is an accomplice and whose evidence is thus not reliable."

The reasons for appeal are (1) that the decision is erroneous in law, the Magistrate holding that the evidence apart from Vieira's not being conclusive, there was no case against the respondent, and that the mere fact of Vieira's being an accomplice rendered his evidence unreliable; and (2) that an illegality substantially affecting the merits of the case was committed, as (a) the Magistrate refrained from considering the case on the facts as a Jury, because the evidence of an accomplice was not corroborated, and (b) there being ample evidence in corroboration of the accomplice the Magistrate should have considered the case as a Jury on the evidence and have delivered a verdict according to his belief or disbelief of the evidence.

The appeal, it is stated by counsel for the appellant, is based on the Magistrate's reasons for his decision, and the Court is asked to remit the case to the Magistrate to obtain a more definite statement by him as to his belief or disbelief of the evidence.

The Magistrate has heard and determined the case, and cannot be held to have refrained from considering the case on the evidence, and although the Magistrate Decisions (Appeals) Ordinance, 1893, sect. 29 (3) requires the Court to take into consideration a Magistrate's reason for his decision, before modifying, amending or reversing that decision, the appeal is from the decision and not from the reasons for the decision, and unless satisfied that the decision itself is erroneous for any reason which may be a ground of appeal, the Court will not interfere even if all the reasons be erroneous.

It has long been settled that the Court will not on an acquittal refer a case back to a Magistrate unless satisfied that the adjudication has proceeded on some mistake in law (Dawson v. Gopaul, 29th September, 1883.) In the present instance the Magistrate's reasons for his decision are capable of more than one interpretation, and I am not satisfied that he meant that he had in arriving at his decision discarded altogether as inadmissible the evidence of Vieira which appears on the face of the proceedings to have been admitted and taken very fully, but I think the reasons may reasonably be interpreted as meaning that he did not feel that he could rely sufficiently on the evidence of Vieira, who was an accomplice, to convict, and that the other evidence did not afford sufficient corroboration. I may add that this view of the evidence before the Court is, in my opinion, correct.

The appeal is therefore dismissed with costs.

Inspector DE RINZEY (Capt.), Respondent.

This is an appeal from a decision of Mr. P. H. R. Hill, Assistant Police Magistrate of Georgetown, convicting the appellant on a charge that he not being a person registered or entitled to be registered as a duly qualified medical practitioner did, in Feb. 1903, practice surgery for reward in a medical district of this colony, to wit, the Georgetown Medical District, wherein a duly qualified medical practitioner, to wit, Joseph Godfrey, resided.

The reasons for appeal, of which notice was given, were very numerous; but at the hearing the appellant's counsel abandoned all those reasons save five, which (stated shortly) are: (1) that the charge before the Magistrate was not in accordance with the requirements of the law; (2) that it was not proved, (a) that the appellant was neither registered nor entitled to be registered as a duly qualified legal practitioner, (b) that he practised surgery as distinct from medicine, (c) that the place where he practised was within a medical district of this colony, or (d) that there was residing within that district at the time a duly qualified medical practitioner, the evidence of J. H. Conyers on this point having been illegally admitted.

It is unnecessary to express any opinion on any of these reasons save the last, as, in my opinion, that reason must prevail and the appeal be allowed.

The charge is brought under section 5 of Ord. 32, of 1900, which provides that no person shall, unless he is registered or entitled to be registered under the Medical Ordinance, 1886, as a duly qualified medical practitioner, practise for gain or reward, medicine or surgery in any medical district in the colony "in which a duly qualified medical practitioner resides."

The expression, in this enactment, duly qualified medical practitioner must, according to the Medical Ordinance, 1886, section 35, mean a person registered under that Ordinance in the register kept under its provisions, and to sustain the charge it was necessary to prove (among other things) that at the time the respondent is alleged to have practised surgery in Georgetown, there was in Georgetown a practitioner duly registered under the Medical Ordinance, 1886. It appears from the proceedings that the Register, or a certified copy thereof, was not put in evidence and that the only evidence of Dr. Godfrey's being a duly registered medical practitioner was the oral evidence of Dr. Conyers, who stated, "I know Joseph Godfrey, he is a qualified medical practitioner." The contents of the Register which is required by law to be kept as a written record could not legally be proved by oral testimony, the register not having been shown to be lost or for any other reason unproducible, even if Dr. Conyers' testimony could be taken to mean that Dr. Godfrey's name was on the Register. An essential part of the charge has therefore not been proved, and the Court reverses the Magistrate's decision and allows the appeal with costs.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 19TH DAY OF MAY, 1903.

BOND

versus

HART.

The plaintiff by his claim alleges that on the 2nd February, 1900, he borrowed from the defendant the sum of $9 and gave him as security 2 pawn tickets; that the defendant in April, 1900, redeemed the goods which consisted of jewellery of the value of $183 10; and he claims the delivery of the goods or payment of their value and $20 damages.

The defendant denies that there was ever any loan, but says he bought the pawn tickets from the plaintiff with an agreement to resell them to the plaintiff at the same price within a month.

The plaintiff was the only witness called on his own behalf, and in nearly all the material points he is contradicted by the defendant. When the transaction was entered into, however, the plaintiff signed a document to the following effect:—"Received from Mr. A. Hart the sum of nine dollars for two pawn tickets, Nos. 127 and 128"; and the defendant signed another document to following effect:—"I hereby agree to return to Mr. W. Bond tickets Nos. 127 and 128 for the sum of nine dollars, which amount was paid by me as interest and which he promises to pay at the end of the current month." From these documents and the other evidence, I am of opinion that there was a sale of the pawn tickets to the defendant with a sort of equity of redemption, if it may be so called, attached: the plaintiff had the right to get back the tickets at the same price at the end of February, 1900. It might possibly be that if the plaintiff had offered to repurchase within a reasonable time he might, in equity, have had a right to do so; but some three years have elapsed, and I don't consider his equity, if he had any, could be held to continue for so long a period. It is true the plaintiff states that during that period he saw the defendant who practically agreed to hold the articles for him; but this is denied by the defendant, and on this point it seems impossible to determine who is speaking the truth.

The defendant in his evidence professed complete ignorance as to the persons to whom he sold the jewellery and as to the amounts received. I cannot believe that the defendant could possibly have forgotten altogether these circumstances. I shall not allow him any costs.

Judgment for defendant, no costs.

Dr FREITAS

versus

JENKINS.

The plaintiff claims $120, as two months rent of a portion of certain placers in the Cuyuni river leased by the defendant from him.

The holder of the placer claims is one Manoel Pestano who sublet to the plaintiff. The plaintiff sublet a portion to the defendant. No notice was given of these leases to the Warden or Commissioner. The Mining Regulations provide that no holder of a claim shall sublet the same or any part thereof unless the name of the lessee and his address be stated in writing to the Warden or Commissioner. I am of opinion that this regulation not having been complied with the lease is invalid and the plaintiff cannot sue on it. It is said that the defendant cannot dispute his landlord's title. The defendant is not disputing his landlord's title: the only question is as to the validity of the lease under which the plaintiff claims rent.

The defendant has made a counter claim against the plaintiff for an account of the raw gold received by the plaintiff from the defendant together with an account of all provisions had by the defendant and all monies expended by the plaintiff on his behalf. On the evidence I am satisfied that the plaintiff never received any gold from the defendant for which he has to account; that all gold received by the plaintiff from the defendant was taken as cash; and that all dealings between the parties were practically cash transactions. I cannot believe that the defendant would have given large amounts of gold, as he says he did, without having some receipt or writing to shew for it. If the plaintiff had gold belonging to defendant unaccounted for, I am sure the defendant would have taken proceedings against him, instead of which he waits until he himself is sued for rent to make a claim.

There will be judgment for the defendant on the claim, and for the plaintiff on the counter-claim; each party to pay their own costs.

Administrator General Representing Estate
RICHARDS

versus

MANOEL PESTANO.

The defendant in this case purchased from Margaret Richards, in her quality as sole executrix under the last will and testament of Wiltshire Augustus Richards, deceased, certain placer claims in the Cuyuni river, for the sum of $1,200, and a certain so-called "royalty." The plaintiff sues for alleged arrears of such royalty, amounting to $1,120. By the agreement of purchase of sale, which is in writing, the defendant covenanted with Margaret Richards, her executors or administrators, or the parties for the time being representing the separate estate of Wiltshire Augustus Richards, deceased, to pay to her, him or them the monthly payment or royalty of twenty dollars per month for so long as he the said Manoel Pestano shall continue to work for gold on the said placer claims on Charity creek, etc., and also a further monthly payment of royalty of twenty dollars per month, for so long as he shall continue to work for gold on the claims Upper Jordan, etc., such royalty to be paid on the first of every month and to be applied by the said Margaret Richards or her aforesaid for the support and maintenance of herself and of Veronica Richards and Ann Charlotte Richards, (the minor children of the said Wiltshire Augustus Richards), in equal shares.

It appears that Wiltshire Augustus Richards was a partner with the defendant in these placers and was also his manager until he was taken ill. The defendant after he got ill allowed him $40 a month. After his death his widow agreed to sell her deceased husband's interest in the placers for $1,200. The widow and the defendant went to a Solicitor to have the agreement drawn. The Solicitor suggested the payment of the royalty for the maintenance of the widow and children of Wiltshire Augustus Richards.

I am of opinion that the true construction of this agreement, which is not clearly expressed, is that this royalty is payable solely for the maintenance of the widow and children, and would, therefore, determine on their death. It is contended that as by the agreement the royalty is to be paid for their maintenance in equal shares that the share of any one dying would determine. I don't think the agreement could possibly be construed to mean that; the defendant is bound to pay the royalty in full to the representative of the estate of W. A. Richards for the maintenance of these three persons in equal shares. If one dies it appears to me the royalty should be divided between the survivors.

Ann Charlotte Richards is the only one alive, and I am of opinion that the whole amount of the royalty should be paid to her guardian for her support.

There was no evidence tendered as to how much of the royalty was in arrear, but the defendant by his counsel admitted that no royalty had been paid from the 1st October, 1900, that the claims on Charity Creek, etc., were worked to end of February, 1902, that the claims Upper Jordan, etc., were worked to date of filing claim.

There is royalty therefore at rate of $20 per month due for 17 months on Charity Creek claim—$340 and the same on Upper Jordan, etc., for 28 months = 560

There will be judgment for $900 in favour of Administrator General representing Estate of the minor Ann Charlotte Richards, with costs.

J. J. TEIXEIRA

versus

SPROSTONS, LIMITED.

This is an application by the plaintiff for an order that the defendants give inspection of:

1. A Promissory Note for $1,000 made by the plaintiff in favour of the defendants, dated the 21st August, 1902, and

2. Mortgage of the schooner Yankee Lass made by the plaintiff in favour of the defendants, dated the 21st August, 1902.

This application is on the result of an order for discovery, it being admitted that the documents in question are in the possession and power of the defendants, and is based on the grounds that the said documents relate to the matters in question in this action or some of them; that the said documents are material to the matters in question in this action or some of them; and that this action cannot be fairly disposed of unless the plaintiff obtains inspection of the said documents.

From the affidavits already filed it appears that the Secretary of the defendant Company did not in his first affidavit refer to the documents the subject of this application, but in his second affidavit says they are in the possession of the defendant Company, but he was informed and believed that they were not relevant to the matter at issue. Mr. Dargan, for the plaintiff, contended that the affidavit is bad as to that part relating to their irrelevancy, the statement by the Secretary that he is informed and verily believes that the documents are not necessary and are irrelevant not being sufficient. The cases of Quartz Hill Consolidated Gold Mining Company v. Bull, L. R., 20 Chancery Division 508, and Biddis v. Bridges, L. R., 26 Chancery Division 4, were quoted in support. There is a later and stronger case in Law Times Reports, lxxxiii N. S., p. 418, Court of Appeal Re J. L. Young Manufacturing Company, Limited, v. J. L. Young Manufacturing Company, Limited, in which some very strong remarks are made as to deponents making statements on their "information and belief." Lord Alverstone, C.J., said "in my opinion so-called evidence on information and belief ought to be disregarded unless the Court can ascertain the sources of the information and belief or unless the deponent's statement is corroborated by a person who can speak from his own knowledge. If such affidavits are made in future it is as well that it should be understood that they are worthless and ought not to be received at all as evidence in any shape whatever; and as soon as affidavits are drawn so as to avoid matters that are not evidence, the better it will be for the administration of justice."

Rigby, L.J., said, referring to the same matter "now every affidavit of that kind is irregular, and in my opinion the only way to bring about a change in that irregular practice is for the judge in every case of the kind to give a direction that the costs of the affidavit so far as it relates to matters of mere information and belief shall be paid by the person responsible for the affidavit. I never pay the slightest attention myself to affidavits of that kind, whether they be used on interlocutory applications or on final ones, because the rule is perfectly general—that when a deponent makes a statement on his information and belief he must state the ground of that information and belief."

Mr. Hutson contended that the decisions quoted referred to were as to facts and are therefore distinguishable. This may be so, but on reference to appendix D, No. 3 of our own Rules of Court the form of affidavit as to Documents is given (Order xxvii, r. 13), and it will be seen that the grounds for objecting to produce must be stated and the facts verified as far as may be. The affidavit of Mr. Goring, the Secretary, does not comply with our own Rules. The affidavit filed since in this application on behalf of the defendant is by the defendant's Solicitor who states that there were certain transactions with the Administrator General, who, as Assignee of the estate of Francisco De Freitas, father of the plaintiff, took possession of the schooner "Yankee Lass." Certain payments were made to him and the mortgage was shown to the Chief Clerk of the Administrator General's Department, by whom notes of it were made. As no steps were taken by the Administrator General to be registered in due form of law as owner of the Schooner "Yankee Lass," no further payments were made to him and eventually the schooner with her cargo of fish was seized. The application is resisted on the ground that the statement of defence does not put forth the mortgage; that the statement in the affidavit of Mr. Farnum were not necessary to the defence; that this is an action for sale and delivery; that delivery is denied on the 12th January, the day of seizure; that the mortgage is not claimed for the cargo; that the appropriations were according to a verbal agreement; and that there was a written contract as to the sale of the fish. The whole point is whether the documents in question are necessary for disposing fairly of the action. As the Mortgage was mentioned in the affidavit of Mr. Farnum (on which leave to defend was given) and the fish were stated to have been dealt with by the defendants as mortgages, this document is clearly relevant to the matters in issue. As regards the Promissory Note, I am also of opinion that the plaintiff is entitled to inspection of it as it relates to the matter at issue. With regard to the contention that as the plaintiff was the maker of the Promissory Note and the Mortgage he must know the terms of them and is, therefore, in as good a position as the defendants; it is only necessary to remark that there is a great difference between the parties: one has the documents in his possession, the other can only trust to his memory unless he has copies of which there is no evidence or suggestion.

I therefore make the order for inspection as asked, such documents to be produced for inspection at the office of the Solicitor for the defendants within three days of this order.

As to the costs—I grant the plaintiff the costs of this application, as I am of opinion the inspection was reasonably asked for. (Order xxvii, p. 23.)

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

LIMITED CIVIL JURISDICTION.

THIS 25TH DAY OF MAY, 1903.

M. R. DE SA,

versus

JESSIE BEN.

The plaintiff by his claim seeks transport of the eastern half of lot 30, part of Kiltarn Village, Corentyne Coast, purchased from Wellington Ben, deceased, or in the alternative repayment of $15 part of the purchase money. Damages are also claimed. It is alleged that the defendant, the widow of Wellington Ben, to whom she was married in community of property has acte hereditarii adiated the estate.

The defendant admits being the widow of Wellington Ben, but denies that he was owner of the lot in question, that he sold the lot or received any money or guaranteed transport, that she took possession or adiated the estate or is in actual possession or enjoys the income; and alleges that even if all these statements are true she is not liable to pass transport; that she is not entitled to receive the balance of the purchase money, that her late husband had no transport, that she is not the heir and has never adiated the estate, and further alleges that Wellington Ben, left him surviving lawful children of full age.

From a document put in and proved it is clear that Wellington Ben, sold to the plaintiff the eastern half of lot 30 on the 16th October, 1902, and received $15 half of the purchase money and guaranteed transport. There is no proof, however, that Wellington Ben, ever had a transport nor is there any proof that the defendant adiated the estate; she buried her husband and paid for some rum used in connection with the obsequies, but these acts do not constitute adiation.

In the absence of any ante nuptial contract it is legally presumed that the marriage was in community, and as Wellington Ben died intestate without issue and there is no proof of his having any lawful children, his widow is entitled to three-quarters of the property—one half in her own right and a half of the other half by Ordinance of 1887.

As there is no proof that Wellington Ben ever had a transport of the lot, the Court can make no order on that portion of the claim. Spouses are liable for debts contracted durante matrimonio and after dissolution (death) to the extent of one half; debts, in the Roman Dutch Law including obligation.

I therefore give judgment for the plaintiff for $7 50, no costs.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

C. B. HAMILTON, RECEIVER GENERAL,

versus

LEOPOLDINA FERREIRA AND ORS.

This is a claim for $164 01, instalments with interest of succession duty against Leopoldina Ferreira and the proprietor or proprietors, representative or representatives of the undivided half of lot 200, Lacytown, and the buildings and erections thereon.

Augustinho Leopoldina Ferreira, the proprietor, defends, and raises several points of defence, but the points for decision are really three.

First. Does the succession duty attach to the property comprised in the succession?

Two. In the case of a bona fide purchaser for valuable consideration, does the liability remain so attached? and Three. Does the fact that there was no opposition to a duly advertised transport release the property?

It appears that Leopoldina Ferreira (sister to Antonio Ferreira's first wife) was appointed universal heiress by the will of Antonio Ferreira, who, in the said will, only dealt with his half of the common property as he was married in community of goods to his wife Augustino (Leopoldina Ferreira). Antonio Ferreira died on the 18th February, 1898, but no account of the succession in immovable property was delivered by Leopoldina Ferreira until the 25th April, 1901, after an order of the Court. Attached to the statement of account is a declaration of its accuracy. The net annual value was $918, and on this the duty was assessed at $609 60, payable in instalments (eight half-yearly) of $76 20. The estate consisted of lot 200, corner of Camp and Charlotte Streets, Lacytown, and W. ½ lot 209, Charlotte Street. The widow, by virtue of the community owned half, and the succession duty now sought to be recovered consists of instalments due on the half lots which were transported by Leopoldina Ferreira to Augustinho Ferreira, after due advertisement on the 9th November, 1898, the former describing herself as sole heir under the last will and testament of Antonio Ferreira. No opposition was entered by the present plaintiff. On the 4th October, 1902, judgment was obtained for four instalments before Lucie Smith, J., in a suit identical with this.

As was remarked in the judgment referred to, the difficulties in the case are the result of copying an English statute irrespective of the difference between English law and the law of this colony as regards tenure of land and mortgages and, I may add, by not following up English legislation.

By 52 Vict. ch. 7 (Customs and Inland Revenue Act) the charging of succession duty against a purchaser for valuable consideration is barred after a certain time under certain conditions, thus showing that under the 42nd section of the Act of 1853 (local Ordinance 5 of 1892, sec. 82,) a purchaser for valuable consideration remained charged with unpaid duty. In the case of Fryer v. Morland, 45 L. J., N.S. 817, quoted by Mr. Abraham for the defence, it was decided that a bona fide purchase did not create a succession and that no duty was leviable on that transaction. All the English cases on this point lay down that whatever duty is payable is in respect of the succession from the predecessor from whom the title is derived and not in respect of the purchase. The case of in re Donelan estates (1902), Ir. R. 109, C. A., is nearly analogous to this case: there it was sought to charge the purchasers for valuable consideration but as the claim was beyond the period fixed by the Act of 1889, it was declared to be barred as against them. Had the time limit not have been exceeded the charge could have been enforced. It is clear, therefore, that a purchaser for valuable consideration can be charged with unpaid duty.

By s. 82 (2) the duty is a debt to the Crown "having in case of immovable property comprised in any succession, priority over all charges and interests created by him, but such duty shall not charge or affect any other immovable property of the successor than the property comprised in such succession." But provision is made for charging immovable property acquired in substitution in certain cases.

There is no question, therefore, that the duty attaches to the property and is chargeable against a bona fide purchaser except (s. 91, Ordinance 5 of 1892), where the property is purchased under a title not appearing to confer a succession, for under such circumstances "no bona fide purchaser shall be subject to any duty with which such property may be chargeable."

This disposes of points 1 and 2, in so far as that the property succeeded to is chargeable with the duty.

By sec. 84 of Ord. 5 of 1892, any person in whom such property is vested by alienation at the time of the succession becoming an interest in possession is personally accountable to His Majesty for the duty payable in respect of any succession, but only to the extent of the property.

By section 91 no bona fide purchaser of property for valuable consideration under a title not appearing to confer a succession shall be subject to any duty with which such property may be chargeable under the provisions of this Part by reason of any extrinsic circumstance of which he has not had notice at the time of such purchase; therefore if a purchase is made under such circumstances that notice must be presumed and when the property purchased is clearly under a title by succession the bona fide purchaser is subject to the duty with which such property is chargeable. Here the property was advertised by Leopoldina Ferreira as heir of Antonio Ferreira and it is bought by his widow who knew how Leopoldina obtained the right to sell and that it was liable to succession duty. As the duty is chargeable on the property it is a legal mortgage and as was pointed out in the case of Rodney v. Rodney there are a number of cases where rights are not concluded by transport; and the authority given is Mathews de arctonibus where the subject is fully dealt with. In Burge the same authority is referred to in the passage: "But if the property comprised in a special (and legal has the same force) mortgage were transferred to a bona fide purchaser for a valuable consideration even although he had no notice of the existence of this mortgage it still remained liable to the mortgage." The same would be the case if the general hypothec was legal.

As to the silence while the sale was effected Vander Keesel 442 is in point when he says that the bare knowledge of a creditor who is not unaware that the property mortgaged to him would be sold, even publicly is not to be taken as a tacit discharge of his mortgage. But the strongest argument to my mind that a bona fide purchaser under circumstances such as those in this case is liable is to be found in section 91 of the Ordinance already referred to.

I therefore give judgment for plaintiff against the proprietor of lot 200, Camp Street, for $164 01 as claimed, no costs.

As no damages are proved, I dismiss the counter claim, no costs.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

19th May, 1903.

HIS Excellency the Governor has directed the publication, for general information, of the following letters from the Secretary of the British Cotton Growing Association, Oldham, England, reporting on certain samples of Cotton forwarded to the Association in March last.

The Cotton in question was grown in Berbice, and is the Cotton of the varieties known locally as "bush" and as "creole" now growing wild on the coast lands of the Colony.

OSCAR WEBER,
Secretary.

THE BRITISH COTTON GROWING ASSOCIATION.

19, QUEEN STREET, OLDHAM,

April 16th, 1903.

Dear Sir,—Your letter of the 24th of March together with the samples of Cotton have duly arrived, for which I am obliged.

I am very pleased to forward you a very favourable report on this Cotton, and can assure you that a market can always be found for this class of Cotton. Just at present, of course, the prices are high, but in any event this Cotton will fetch a better price than the ordinary American, and therefore will always be saleable.

We shall be glad to have further particulars about the growth of Cotton in your Colony, and to give any assistance and information we can in order to develop the industry.

We will send you a small supply of Egyptian seed for experimental purposes.

Yours faithfully,

JNO. C. ATKINS,
Secretary.

OSCAR WEBER, Esq.,
Secretary, Board of Agriculture,
British Guiana.

THE BRITISH COTTON GROWING ASSOCIATION.

19, QUEEN STREET, OLDHAM,

April 22nd, 1903.

Dear Sir,—In further reference to the samples of Cotton forwarded by you, and the report on which was sent you last Mail, I am instructed by the Executive Committee of this Association to say that they will be glad to receive all the Cotton you can get grown of this quality, and can assure you that they will get the best possible price. In order to encourage its growth, my Committee is prepared to guarantee its sale at $\frac{1}{4}$ d. (one half penny) per lb. below the said valuations. As I have already pointed out, the price of American Cotton is abnormally high.

If there is any way that this Association can assist, please let me know.

Yours faithfully,

JOHN C. ATKINS,
Secretary.

OSCAR WEBER, Esq.,
Secretary, Board of Agriculture,
British Guiana.

BRITISH COTTON GROWING ASSOCIATION.

Expert's report on samples of British Guiana Cotton.

"No. 1. Very well ginned and prepared. Good length and strength, very like 'semi-rough' Peruvian Cotton. Value $7\frac{1}{2}$ d. to 8d. per lb.

"No. 2. Rather resembles very good Texas Cotton. Very well ginned and prepared. Silkier than No. 1, but not so long in staple. Value about $6\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb.

"I should be very glad to know from what seed these parcels were grown."

262. 26th May, 1903.

WITH reference to Government Notice No. 48 of the 31st January, 1903, His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to direct that the name of Herbert Lancelot Rolleston, Esquire, Planter, of 158, Waterloo Street, Georgetown, shall be added to the list of Justices of Peace for the County of Demerara, published therein.

263. 30th May, 1903.

REFERRING to Government Notice No. 232 of the 21st instant, His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint L. P. Hodge, Esquire, Draughtsman, Public Works Department, to act as Assistant Colonial Civil Engineer during such time as R. J. Scott-Bushe, Esquire, may act as Colonial Civil Engineer, or until further notice.

264. 30th May, 1903.

HIS Excellency the Governor has been pleased to grant to C. H. Massiah, Esquire, Government Medical Officer, vacation leave of absence, on full salary, from the 1st proximo to the 24th July next.

265. 30th May, 1903.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following letters with regard to the experimental planting of certain samples of jute seed and rice paddy received from the Emigration Agent for British Guiana at Calcutta:—

From the Acting Superintendent, Botanic Gardens.

Govt. Botanist's Office,
Georgetown, British Guiana,
21st May, 1903.

Sir,—Complying with the instruction contained in Minute paper dated 15th April last, I now have the honour to report on the planting of jute seeds at these Gardens as follows:

The seeds were all good and came up quickly, but only grew to a height of less than a foot, weedy sickly plants, when they flowered and went to seed.

I am informed that the experiment has been repeatedly tried here and always with the same result, due, in the opinion of experts, to the situation being below sea level.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) B. GAINFORT,
Actg. Superintendent.

The Honourable,
The Government Secretary.

From Mr. T. Wardle.

Washington Rice Farm,
W. C., Berbice,
27th May, 1903.

Dear Sir,—In answer to your letter of the 25th instant, I beg to say I have not yet tried any of the jute seeds as I am at present very much short of labour.

The people of the district here are now taking to the rice cultivation in earnest and most of them are proprietors of land, and at present they are very busy planting their own lands, in consequence of which I have lost all my labourers.

I gave a trial to the Indian variety of paddy rice that I received from your office. I regret to say, after having considerable expenses in preparing five acres of land to sow the imported seeds, not even a grain of the different seeds germinated.

I believe the lot of same was too old, although in appearance it looked in good condition.

I remain, &c.,

(Signed) T. WARDLE.

B. GAINFORT, Esqre.,
Govt. Botanist's Office,
Georgetown.

266. 2nd June, 1903.

J. F. SCOTT FOWLER, Esquire, Assistant Resident Surgeon, Public Hospital, has returned to the Colony from leave of absence and resumed the duties of his office on the 27th ultimo.

267. 2nd June, 1903.

REFERRING to Government Notice No. 244 of the 25th ultimo, His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint C. P. Widdup, Esquire, Clerical Assistant, Treasury Department, to be a Sixth Class Clerk in the Department of Lands and Mines.

2nd June, 1903.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following Circular Despatch received from His Honour the Administrator of Grenada:—

CIRCULAR.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Grenada, 21st May, 1903.

Sir,—With a view to removing erroneous impressions respecting the public health of this colony which may have been created by the action of the Barbados Government on the 27th March last in declaring Grenada to be infected with small-pox, I have the honour to inform you that there is at present no case of small-pox in the colony, and that there has been no case of that disease here since the year 1888, when a few cases were introduced from Martinique by smugglers into one of the Grenadine quays, where they were promptly isolated and suppressed.

2. On the 13th ultimo a case (the first which occurred) of the eruptive fever prevalent in Trinidad was detected in Grenada, and it was immediately isolated, the Board of Health having adopted stringent measures for the treatment of that and all similar cases. Up to date 14 cases have been under treatment at the isolation stations, and two have been discharged, cured, leaving 12 in isolation to-day. Of those cases four were introduced from Trinidad before that island was quarantined, and one was taken since from a vessel in quarantine; of the others, six were "contacts" with cases from Trinidad, and three came from the island of Carriacou.

3. Although this disease was thus from the outset well under control in Grenada, the Local Authorities have not been so successful in the islands of Carriacou and Petit Martinique, dependencies of Grenada, situated about 20 miles to the north of the main island. There are at present 19 cases of the same type of eruptive fever in those islands, and vigorous measures are being insisted upon by the Government and are being taken by the Local Health Authority for their isolation. Until satisfied, however, that an effective control has been established, as in Grenada, the precaution has been taken of quarantining arrivals at Grenada from that part of the colony, so as to protect the main island from further infection.

4. I would add that, in consequence of information received as to the presence of small-pox in Trinidad along with the other epidemic disease, that colony and British Guiana (where cases of small-pox are admitted to have occurred) have been proclaimed infected places since the 27th ultimo, and quarantine restrictions are imposed on arrivals therefrom.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

EDWARD DRAYTON,
Administrator.

The Honourable
The Government Secretary,
British Guiana.

By Command,

N. DARNELL DAVIS,
Acting Government Secretary.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,

269.

3rd June, 1903.

THE following Bill, which it is proposed to read a first time at the next meeting of the Governor and Court of Policy, is hereby published for general information.

By Command,

N. DARNELL DAVIS,
Acting Government Secretary.

THE STATUTE LAWS REVISION BILL, 1903.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM.

Clause 2.—This is intended to remedy a defect in the Pounds Ordinance, 1866, which contains no provision for dealing with animals impounded which no one will buy and which are unclaimed by the owner.

Clause 3.—This is to make it an offence punishable on summary conviction, to give a false name or address when registering a birth or death. At present such offences can only be punished on indictment as perjury. This provision is rendered desirable by the frequency with which persons registering the birth of a child give false addresses in order to evade having the child vaccinated.

Clauses 4 and 5 merely correct verbal errors in the Elementary Education Ordinance, 1876, Amendment Ordinance, 1900, and make no alteration in the law.

Clause 6 amends section 50 of the Public Health Ordinance, 1878, by enabling a local authority to make by-laws imposing the duty of cleaning ashpits, cesspools, etc., on the owner as well as on the occupier. At present only the occupier can be made liable, and as it is practically impossible to impose this duty on an occupier in the case of large tenement yards where there are a large number of occupiers, it is desirable to have power to compel the owner of the premises to see to their sanitary condition.

Clause 7.—This clause amends and adds to the Pawnbrokers Ordinance, 1854, in order to give the police greater powers in searching for stolen property. It amends section 3 of the Ordinance by making the taking of goods as security for provisions or other articles sold on credit, a pawning under the Ordinance. At present many shopkeepers take articles of jewellery and other things as security for goods supplied on credit to customers, and in this way stolen property may be, and sometimes is disposed of, and the police are unable to trace it, as they would be, had it been disposed of to a pawnbroker. It is desired to stop this practice.

Clause 8 is intended to remove a doubt as to whether the Magistrate of a District is to act as coroner in all cases where he is accessible, or whether the Justice of the Peace who happens to be nearest to where the death occurs is to act, irrespective of whether the Magistrate is available or not.

Clause 9.—This clause puts an end to the Administrator General depositing trust funds in the Treasury at interest payable out of the public revenue. In future the Administrator General will be exactly in the position of a private trustee as to obtaining investments for his funds.

Clause 10 is to prevent the practice which obtains in some parts of the colony, of stamp vendors selling stamps above their face value.

Clause 11.—The object of this clause is to compel the importers of dynamite to store it themselves, and at their own cost. At present the Government provides a hulk for its storage, which costs a great deal more to maintain than the storage rent received from it. Very few persons now import dynamite, and there seems no good reason why the Government should any longer be put to the expense of storing dynamite for the convenience of only three or four persons.

Clause 12 removes a doubt which has been expressed as to whether section 43 of the Police Ordinance, 1891, which requires constables to take an oath for the due performance of the duties of their office, is in force or not. It is declared to be in force.

Clause 13 remedies a mistake in the Village Ordinance, 1892, Amendment Ordinance, 1902. Section 3 of that Ordinance repealed sub-section (1) of section 4 of the Village Ordinance, 1892, and substituted other provisions which were intended to be in lieu of the whole of section 4 and not of sub-section (1) only. Section 3 of the former Ordinance is now repealed and the provisions made which it was intended that section should make.

Clause 14 is intended to remove a difficulty which some magistrates have felt as to remanding a prisoner in his absence, when he has been too ill to be produced in Court, and to correct an obvious misprint in the Summary Conviction Offences (Procedure) Ordinance, 1893.

Clause 15 extends from eight to fourteen days the time for giving notice of appeal and for doing other acts in connection with appeals, from Magistrates' Courts. Eight days has been found too short.

Clause 16 makes attempted suicide punishable on summary conviction, instead of, as now, only on indictment.

Clause 17 is to enable the Governor to appoint persons not medical men to act as Public Vaccinators in places where medical men are not available for that purpose.

Clause 18 increases to 96 cents the price of bicycle labels supplied in place of those lost. The reason of the change is that the labels cost that amount to procure, and cannot be supplied for less without a loss to the revenue.

Clause 19 merely corrects some verbal errors in the Pharmacy and Poisons Ordinance, 1899, without making any change in the law.

Clause 20 corrects a mistake in the title of the Supreme Court (Civil Procedure) Ordinance, 1901, in Schedule I to that Ordinance.

Clause 21 corrects a mistake in section 3 of the Public Health Ordinance, 1878, Amendment Ordinance, 1902. That section is repealed and re-enacted as corrected. No change is made in the law.

Clause 22 makes two verbal corrections in the Statute Laws Revision Ordinance, 1902.

Clause 23 and the Schedule repeal some enactments which have inadvertently been omitted from the repeal sections of other Ordinances :—

- (a) Ordinance 12 of 1895, section 3 (2) and Ordinance 12 of 1896, section 2 should have been repealed by the Poor Relief Ordinance, 1903.
- (b.) Ordinance 12 of 1895, section 3 (4) amends Ordinance 8 of 1868, section 49; but that section was repealed by Ordinance 12 of 1899, section 4; but the first named enactment which amends it was left unrepealed.
- (c.) Ordinance 5 of 1901, section 4, amends Ordinance 4 of 1888, section 13, which latter section was repealed by Ordinance 23 of 1902, but the first named enactment was left unrepealed.

(d.) Ordinance 5 of 1901, section 11, and Ordinance 28 of 1902, section 17 should have been repealed by the Pilotage Ordinance, 1903.

(e.) The amendment in Ordinance 4 of 1875 is to enable the Governor alone to make regulations as to vaccination, without the necessity of consulting the Executive Council, which might cause loss of valuable time in case of a serious outbreak of small-pox.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 29TH DAY OF MAY, 1903.

CHENGAMAH, as Executrix under the last will and Testament of JOHN GOBIN, Deceased.

versus
ANGOO VANDEYAR.

This is an action for the recovery of $118 alleged to be "the amount of a certain overdue Promissory Note made by the defendant in Georgetown, in favour of the plaintiff's testator, dated 18th April, 1902, and payable nine months after said date for value received." In the statement of claim plaintiff avers that the said promissory note was lost before it became due and she offers "to indemnify the defendant and to hold him harmless from any loss or damage which he might sustain or suffer by reason of the said promissory note being so lost."

The defendant in his statement of defence gave notice that he would contend that plaintiff was estopped from bringing this action inasmuch as the plaintiff had already "instituted an action against him, the defendant, in respect of a claim for $150, the only sum in issue between the parties in the above Court which action came on for hearing before Mr. Justice Hewick, who after hearing the evidence of both the plaintiff and defendant on the 23rd February, 1903 * * * dismissed the action with costs."

Defendant further gave notice that he would contend that no action lies on a promissory note alleged to be lost and that if such action does lie the plaintiff had not complied with the provisions of the Bills of Exchange Ordinance of 1891.

Defendant admitted making the note sued on, but alleged that such note was delivered by John Gobin, deceased, to one "Baby" who as legal holder is alone entitled to sue for the same, and that he, defendant, has always been ready and willing to pay the sum of $118 00 and is ready now to do so on the note being produced.

At the hearing Mr. Woolford, solicitor, for the defendant, urged that the matter was res judicata inasmuch as it had been adjudicated upon by Mr. Justice Hewick in a judgment dated 23rd February, a copy of which was laid over. After hearing Mr. De Freitas in reply, I decided to hear the case on the merits as it appeared to me that plaintiff was not estopped from bringing this action by reason of the decision referred to. The action before Mr. Justice Hewick was on a pro. note for $150 dated 18th April, 1902, payable six months after date. At the hearing of that case the defendant Vandeyar denied the making of a note for $150 payable six months after date, but admitted that he had made one for $118 payable nine months from the date thereof, which note was then in the hands of one "Baby" who had demanded payment of the same from him.

The learned Judge could not have decided the issue now before me for the simple reason that when proceedings were commenced to recover on the alleged note for $150 payable 6 months after date, the note now sued on, which is for 9 months, had not arrived at maturity but was still running.

As to the second point raised by defendant that no action lies on a promissory note alleged to be lost, section 70 of the Bills of Exchange Ordinance distinctly provides that the "Court or a Judge or a Magistrate, as the case may be, may order that the loss of the instrument shall not be set up, provided an indemnity be given, to the satisfaction of the Court, or the Judge, or the Magistrate against the claims of any other person upon the instrument in question." As to the provisions of section 69 of the same Ordinance which the Solicitor for the defendant referred to as not having been complied with by plaintiff, that section applies to a bill lost before it is overdue, and the note sued on is now overdue; the loss of the note moreover was denied by the defendant and he produced it in support of his case. Section 70 would be of no effect if the contention of the defendant were correct.

From the evidence called by the defendant, it appears clear to me that the note now sued on and another were given to a woman named Somareah, otherwise called "Baby," by John Gobin, deceased, some days before his death. Gobin had been living with Somareah for a considerable period and from the circumstances under which he delivered these notes to the woman and from what he said according to the evidence at the time he handed them to her, I am of opinion, there was a valid and legal donatio mortis causa. Gobin died a few days after he gave the notes to Somareah without revoking the gift, and I consider she is in lawful possession of the same. The question whether she could sue in her own name on these notes, is not before me, that is an issue which might have to be tried if she found it necessary to take proceedings to recover on the notes. In this action, Somareah is a witness for the defendant—not a party—and I do not feel called upon to express any opinion on a point which is not material to the determination of this action.

As to the contention of the counsel for the plaintiff that the gift, if any is incomplete without the endorsement of the deceased man Gobin, the case of Veal v. Veal (27 Beav. 303, 29 Law J. Chan. 321) seems to me to be exactly in point. In that case the Master of the Rolls in the course of his judgment, referring to Rankin v. Weguelin, (27 Beav 309) says:—"I feel bound by this decision, and it does seem to be a more healthy state of the law that the question whether it is a good donatio mortis causa should not depend upon a mere technicality, that is upon whether a deceased person has actually written his name upon the back of a promissory note, when he intended the donee to have the full benefit of it. I must therefore declare that the two promissory notes for £20 and £150, passed by donatio mortis causa to Mary Maclen, and direct the certificate of the Chief Clerk to be varied by omitting those items from the schedule of outstanding personal estate; and her costs must be paid out of the personal estate of the testatrix."

In this case I have no doubt from the evidence as a whole that Gobin intended Somareah to have the full benefit of this note and I hold that it passed to her by donatio mortis causa. In Clement v. Choeman, (27 Ch. D. 631-54 L. J. 158), it was held that:—"a cheque payable to the donor or order and, without being indorsed by him, given by the donor during his last illness to his son, stands on the same footing as a promissory note or bill of Exchange payable to the donor or order, and following Veal v. Veal, will pass to the son by way of donatio mortis causa."

In re Mead Austin v. Mead (15 Chan. Div. 651):—"The testator also, shortly before his death, gave to his wife two bills of exchange, which were payable to himself or order. They did not fall due until after his death. They had not been indorsed by him." Fry J. said:—"I have looked at the cases, I am prepared to follow Veal v. Veal. I hold therefore that the two bills passed to the widow, by way of donatio mortis causa."

The only point in connection with this case which remains for me to decide is as to whether—taking it for granted that deceased did give these two notes to Somareah—such gift was not revoked by the following clause in deceased's will made subsequently to such gift:—"I also give and bequeath to the said Chengamah, all sums of money due and owing unto me in the form of promissory notes, bills and so forth."

In Williams on the Law of Executors (vol. 1 p. 78, 8th edn.) we find:—"A donatio mortis causa differs from a gift inter vivos in these respects, in which it resembles a legacy: 1. It is ambulatory, incomplete and revocable during the testator's life. The revocation may either be affected by the recovery of the donor from his disorder, or by resumption of the possession of the subject. But he cannot revoke the donation by a subsequent will: for on the death of the donor, the title of the donee becomes, by relation, complete and absolute from the time of delivery, &c., &c. (Jones v. Selby, Proc. Chanc. 300.) Following this I am of opinion that the gift to Somareah was not and could not be revoked by the subsequent will of Gobin."

Plaintiff beyond laying over the will of her testator Gobin, has adduced no evidence in support of her claim. Action dismissed with costs.

JOSE VIERA, Guardian of the Minor JOSE AUGUSTO D'ANDRADE.

versus

GUILHERMINA D'ANDRADE, assisted as far as needs be by her husband JOSE D'ANDRADE.

This is an opposition by the guardian of the minor Jose Augusto D'Andrade to the transport of the south half of the concession or lot of land number 13 (thirteen), situate in South Newburg, Werk-en-Rust, with all the buildings and erections thereon.

The amount of the opposer's claim together with $120 for costs has been deposited in the Registry of Court to allow the said transport to be passed.

The grounds of opposition are:

1. That the opposer was on the 31st day of January, 1903, by order of His Honour the Chief Justice of this colony, appointed guardian of the minor Jose Augusto D'Andrade.

2. That the said Guilhermina D'Andrade, on the 3rd day of November, 1902, and long previously thereto, had in her possession and control the sum of $570 59 being an amount of money received by her in her capacity as testamentary guardian of the said minor, at the City of Georgetown, in this colony, for the use and benefit of the said minor, the said sum of money being received by her from the Government Savings Bank as belonging to the said minor.

3. That the said Guilhermina D'Andrade has not paid over to the said minor or to any one on his behalf the said sum of $570 59 so received by her, and the said sum is still due and payable to the said minor.

4. That due notice of the opposer's intention to oppose this transport has been given to the said Guilhermina D'Andrade.

5. That the said Guilhermina D'Andrade is not entitled to pass the said transport without payment of the aforesaid sum or security given by her for the due payment of the same, and the opposer is therefore entitled to oppose the passing of the same.

The Statement of Defence denies the receipt of the money as Testamentary Guardian or as belonging to the minor, but admits receiving the $570 59 from the Government Savings Bank as one of the executors of the last will and testament of John D'Andrade, deceased, and it is alleged that the money was paid to Mr. F. R. Capello, Barrister-at-Law, acting under the instructions of Jose D'Andrade, the father and natural guardian of the said minor on its being demanded after notice of opposition to the passing of a transport then advertised by her of lot 9, Camp and D'Urban streets.

There is also a set off of $310 for maintenance at $10 a month.

The facts of the case are that one John D'Andrade, uncle of the minor, paid into the Government Savings Bank between the 11th March and 1st October, 1888, three several sums of $250, $200 and $100 in the name of the minor Jose Augusto D'Andrade, which with interest amounted when drawn on 9th October, 1899 to $570 59.

The heading to the account in the Savings Bank Pass Book is as follows:—

The Government Savings Bank in account current with (Name.)	Postal address.
Minor Jose Augusto D'Andrade, lot 20, Lombard Street, at the disposal of Guardian John D'Andrade.

Signature of Depositor—

The minor is the son of the defendant's present husband by his former wife.

John D'Andrade by his will appointed the defendant as one of his executors, and she being short of money drew the amount from the Savings Bank and used it. This was in 1899, the year in which defendant and Jose D'Andrade were married.

In November, 1902, the defendant and her husband were, it is said, not on friendly terms, one Henriques, her attorney, had collected rents from February, 1900. Jose D'Andrade up to this time had managed all defendant's business and had wasted her property: they are married by contract. The defendant's property is derived from her first husband.

During the period of unfriendliness the defendant advertised the transport of one of her properties. This transport was opposed by her husband as father and natural guardian of his minor son Jose Augusto D'Andrade who through Mr. Capello demanded payment of the minor's money which had been drawn from the Savings Bank. On this opposition a Promissory Note for $570 59 was given on 3rd November, 1902, to Mr. Capello "for value received being in full settlement of the claim of Jose Augusto D'Andrade a minor." This note is signed Guilhermina D'Andrade.

By her Attorney,

M. G. Henriques.

Henriques says "defendant told me the minor had money in the Savings Bank and that she had drawn it and had given it to her husband," also "I told Mr. D'Andrade and with her went to Mr. Capello's office, and acting on her instructions I signed the Promissory Note. I satisfied myself Mr. Capello was acting on behalf of Mr. D'Andrade as guardian of the minor. D'Andrade told me so himself. In consequence of that I signed the note. When I was appointed attorney defendant and her husband agreed: they had a row and at the time of the Promissory Note were not agreeing."

The opposition was withdrawn, but before the purchase money was paid husband and wife seem to have become friendly again, and on the advice of Mr. Capello the power of attorney to Henriques was cancelled and Jose D'Andrade and Mr. Capello were appointed attorneys. The purchase money was paid on or about the 29th November, 1902, when the Promissory Note was cancelled and a receipt given for the $570 59 "in full payment of the amount drawn by her from the Government Savings Bank and deposited there in the name of the minor J. A. D'Andrade, and for which a promissory note was given by her, by M. G. Henriques in favour of F. R. Capello, Esq., for payment of the said sum."

This is signed by Jose D'Andrade

as guardian of the minor

Jose Augusto D'Andrade.

The purchase money was paid to Mr. Capello who says: "Mrs. D'Andrade went to my chambers and the $570 59 were handed to D'Andrade by Mrs. D'Andrade. I handed over the money to Mrs. D'Andrade to pay D'Andrade for the minor's money; he handed it to me for a reason I will explain later I had $2,306 65. The money $570 59 was separated on the 29th November, later on it became a matter of accounts. The $570 59 was handed to me later on for a certain purpose."

The certain purpose is explained by some accounts rendered by Mr. Capello which are interesting.

One of these accounts undated is Statement of Account re Transport of G. D'Andrade:—

The separate accounts of Jose D'Andrade attached begin with a consultation on 31st October, 1902, relative to the minor's money and advising—and on through the opposition acceptance of Promissory Note winding up as to the first account with "Fee agreed on in the above matter and for affecting settlement out of Court the amount due by Mrs. D'Andrade being prescribed the same could not be recovered 150 00 paid Stamp duty on Promissory Note ... 96

Demerara, 15th December, 1902.

The second account is for November, 1902, and opens with a consultation with you and receiving Petition and Order of Chief Justice served on you by Jose Viera asking for his appointment as guardian of the minors D'Andrade in your place and then in the same matter arranging for medical examination, payment for same as also solicitor's fees on the petition

The amount is ... $ 128 25.

As Mr. Capello truly remarked the $570 59 became a matter of accounts later on. According to his evidence and accounts, or at any rate one of them, Mrs. D'Andrade received $200, $475 15, and $570 59 said to have been subsequently lent to her by her husband in various sums, and a Promissory Note for $500 which was eventually discounted by him or through him for $400. The defendant denies having received all the amounts, but the recollection of Mrs. D'Andrade herself is by no means clear. There is no doubt she has been worried a good deal over money matters, nor is there any question that her husband did all her business when they were friendly even to pawning her jewels; but it seems strange that the promissory note for $570 59 was signed by her attorney Henriques, and that she should later on have gone to Mr. Capello's chambers and dealt with the money herself, especially as he and her husband represented her at the passing of the transport.

Comment on the accounts is needless. Mr. Capello was aware of the petition to remove Jose D'Andrade from the guardianship, and both Jose D'Andrade and the defendant must know that if he was removed an account would be required of the money in the Savings Bank, which had been taken out in October, 1899. Was not this transaction a scheme on the part of the husband and wife to evade the liability? The defendant has offered to pay a part of this claim.

The points raised for the defence are:

1. The money was not the minor's.
2. If it did belong to the minors it has been paid.
3. If payment was not good the money expended for maintenance can be set off.

With regard to the first point, Mr. Browne argued that the claim is on a gift inter vivos and the Court must be satisfied that all the requirements to constitute such a gift have been complied with—the donor must bind himself, there must be delivery and acceptance. Mere intention is not sufficient that the money was at the disposal of John D'Andrade who could do what he liked with it and could not be called upon to hand the money over; this being so his executor cannot be called on to pay. The money was treated by the Savings Bank authorities as the money of John D'Andrade—they paid it to the executrix and obtained her receipt for it. Yet it is contended the money was not the minor's.

There is a slight, though important omission in this argument. The money was at the disposal of Guardian John D'Andrade, and the only way he could draw it was in that capacity, and even if his executrix had the same power of disposal it would also only be in that capacity. The money was in the name of the minor who, was considered the depositor. There was a delivery and even if looked on as a gift inter vivos it was accepted by a public person, that is the Receiver General. I may mention here that no regulations have ever been passed regulating deposits by minors and married women under sec. 19 of Ord. 6 of 1899.

The money in the Savings Bank was the property of the minor.

As to the second point the whole question is, was the payment if made at all a bona fide one. There are some circumstances connected with the transaction which point very strongly to the conclusion that it was not.

First, the money was drawn out of the Savings Bank and used by the defendant because she was short of money, this was in October, 1899. Secondly, it was not until proceedings for the removal of Jose D'Andrade as guardian were contemplated, if not already initiated, that any steps were taken by the husband to get payment of the amount. Thirdly it is strange that a quarrel should have occurred, just long enough to allow of the opposition by D'Andrade and a signing of a Promissory Note by the attorney Henriques. Fourthly, that on the eve of the payment of the purchase money the quarrel should be made up and her husband together with Mr. Capello be appointed attorneys. Sitting as a jury I have come to the conclusion that the whole opposition and so called payment were for the purpose of evading the liability and that even if the money was ostensibly handed to D'Andrade it was not done bona fide and was no payment at all.

As to the contention that the claim states that defendant drew the money as Testamentary Guardian, I do not think it is at all material under the circumstances.

With regard to the set off I am of opinion that it was an afterthought especially as the time does not agree with the evidence, and although a parent can charge for the maintenance of his child out of any property the child possesses that does not affect this case, when a person other than the parent after a plea of payment asks for a set off for maintenance, I disallow it.

I therefore declare the opposition to be just, legal, and well founded, and direct the $370 59 deposited in the Registry of Court to be paid to the plaintiff as guardian of the minor Jose Augusto D'Andrade. I also give the plaintiff his costs.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

THIS 30TH DAY OF MAY, 1903.

M. L. FERREIRA
versus

M. FRANCISCO.

An interesting point has been raised in this case as to whether a Barrister-at-law can issue a writ under the provisions of our Rules of Court.

By Order v. r. 1 when a plaintiff sues by a solicitor the address of the plaintiff and also that of the solicitor or that of his firm and place of business must be indorsed upon the writ of summons before the same is issued. By r. 1 a plaintiff suing in person shall indorse upon the writ of summons before the same is issued his place of residence, etc.

By appendix A part I there are two forms of indorsement in accordance with the Order referred to one of the plaintiff and the other by the solicitor and which apply to specially indorsed writs.

In the costs chargeable by solicitors in actions where the amount claimed exceeds $250 there is one for indorsements of claims if special.

In Murray v. Stephenson 56 L. J. N. S., Q. B. D. 647, the Court Matthew and Smith J. J. held that a specially indorsed writ was not a pleading, but in Anahy v. Pretorius 57 L. J. N. S. Q. B. D. (Court of Appeal) 287, the Court Fry, L. J., and Lopes L. J., held that a specially indorsed writ is a statement of claim pointing out that by o. xx. r. 1 (a) (Our Rules o. xviii. r. 1) no "further" statement of claim shall be filed when a writ is specially indorsed but the indorsement shall be deemed to be a statement of claim (Murray v. Stephenson was quoted in the arguments and was clearly overruled.) The statement of claim being considered as delivered when the writ was served. By Order xvii. r. 6, every pleading shall be signed by a Barrister and the Solicitor of the party if over $250, but if the amount does not exceed $250, by the Barrister or Solicitor. But o. xvii. r. 1 does not make the indorsement a pleading under this rule but only that it shall have the effect of a pleading. By the Legal Practitioners, Ordinance 18 of 1887 also, for the purposes of discipline, a Barrister practising as a Solicitor is deemed to be a Solicitor, and under the Regulations passed to define what practising as a Solicitor is within the meaning of section 8 of the Ordinance referred to, no Barrister who signs any pleading or other documents required by any Rules of Court for the time being in force to be signed by a Barrister or Solicitor shall be deemed thereby to be practising as a Solicitor (Official Gazette, 28th May, 1898. Rules passed by Judges on 11th May, 1898), but this is for the purposes of discipline only and he still remains a Barrister. But the issuing a writ is different; that is confined to the plaintiff or his Solicitor, and, in my opinion, cannot be done by a Barrister.

I may here mention that the local case of Ho-a-Hing v. D'Andrade referred to only decided that though the indorsement has the effect of a statement of claim a fee is not payable to a Barrister for preparing it.

The next point to be dealt with now is the effect of filing an affidavit of defence.

In Malehern v. Doerks 53 L. J. Q. B. 526, it was decided that appearance to a writ is a fresh step and within o. 70, 2.1 (our Rules of Court o. li. r. 2), see also Firth & Sons v. De Las Revus (1893 1 Q. B. 765 as to appearance under protest.

Here there has been an appearance without any statement or notice that it would be conditional, and that being so the writ cannot be struck out for irregularity. The filing the affidavit by a defendant contesting claim must take place not later than noon of the day immediately preceding that fixed by the writ of summons for the appearance of the defendant, so that the filing such affidavit cannot be an appearance by itself.

Transports and Mortgages.

Counties of Demerary and Essequibo

20TH JUNE, 1903.

[FIRST PUBLICATION.]

THE following TRANSPORTS and MORTGAGES are intended to be passed before one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of British Guiana, on any day after Saturday, the 20th day of June, 1903, which such Judge shall be pleased to appoint, viz.:—

The Official Gazette

OF BRITISH GUIANA.

Published by Authority of His Excellency the Governor.

GEORGETOWN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10TH, 1903.

Government Notices.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,

279. 6th June, 1903.

HIS Excellency the Governor has been pleased to re appoint the Honourable D. G. Garraway, Comptroller of Customs, and to appoint M. P. Olton, Esquire, Registrar, to be Directors of the Widows and Orphans' Fund of this Colony.

280. 6th June, 1903.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following Circular which has been addressed to all persons interested in property near the Berbice River:—

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,
25th May, 1903.

Sir,—The Governor's attention has been attracted to the very small traffic returns realised by the subsidised Steamer on the Berbice River.

The total receipts both ways have been,— 1901.	1902.

By Passengers ...	83,584	84,104.
By Freight ...	1,800	2,257.

while the total expenditure incurred in a single year for running the Steamer excluding capital, outlay for boats and cost of repairs to boats was $9,690, leaving a loss of $3,330, without counting cost of Steamers, or repairs to them.

For this Service the Government is paying Sprotons, Limited, the sum of $8,000 a year, and the Contract will not expire until 1913.

The object of the present circular is to give notice to all persons interested in property near the Berbice River, that they should endeavour so to increase and develop their property and their business as to become independent of a Government subsidised Steamer Service when the present Contract shall expire.

An area exceeding 56,000 acres appears to be claimed as private property on the banks of the river, and from this large area less produce than would yield in freight $11 per voyage or $1,102 per annum is exported by the Steamer.

—Properly worked and cultivated, the produce of the land in private hands ought to require for freight more than double the number of Steamers now plying.

If this notice be disregarded, and the present want of development continues for the remainder of the period of the Steamer Contract, the persons interested must not be surprised if the rest of the Colony declines to pay any further subsidy for those who show so little inclination to help themselves.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

N. DARNELL DAVIS,
Acting Government Secretary.

281. 8th June, 1903.

I. K. REID, Esquire, M.D. &c., Government Medical Officer, having returned to the Colony from leave of absence, resumed the charge of the Cotton Tree Medical District on the 29th ultimo.

By Command,

N. DARNELL DAVIS,
Acting Government Secretary.

Procedure on Question being put.

32. Any member or number of members being in the minority, on a division, may require that a written protest, to be handed by them to the Clerk of the Court, be recorded on the Minutes, provided that such written protest shall not be handed in at a date later than the next meeting after the meeting at which the division took place.

If it is decided in the affirmative the doors shall be closed, and the member who made the motion shall then state, in form of a motion, the subject he wishes discussed, and shall move that the discussion shall take place with closed doors: and, if such motion be carried the substantive motion shall be proceeded with under ordinary rules of debate; if lost, the doors shall be opened.

35. No petition from any Public Officer asking for an increase of salary shall be received, unless it is submitted by the direction, or with the sanction, of the Governor.

36. Subject to the approval of the Governor, or President, on motion made and seconded without notice, the Standing Rules and Orders may be suspended at any time by a vote of the majority of the members present.

DECREE.

The Congress of the U.S. of Venezuela decrees:—
Article 1. Products, goods and effects, proceeding from foreign Colonies, which may be imported through the ports of the Republic open to foreign commerce, as also such as coming from the ports of Europe or the U.S. of Venezuela may be transhipped in the said Colonies into other vessels, shall pay an additional 30 per cent. on the duties resulting from each manifest according to the tariff now in force.

Article 2. Products, goods and effects which may be shipped in Europe or in the United States of North America, for the eastern or western ports of the Republic at which the vessels which are to convey them do not touch, may be transhipped in order to proceed to the said ports, at Campano, La Guayra, and Puerto Cabello, and may also be examined and the duties on them paid, in any of these ports, in order that they may proceed thence to their destination in coasting vessels.

In this last case there shall be made on the duties levied on the goods, products and effects thus imported, such a reduction as the national executive may establish as a compensation for the extraordinary expenses incurred thereby, and the effects or goods shall, after they have been examined, remain deposited in the corresponding Custom House until they be re-embarked for the place of their destination.

Article 3. Goods and other national productions shall continue, as heretofore, to be shipped for foreign markets through the ports open for that purpose.

They may also be transhipped at the ports of Campano, La Guayra, and Puerto Cabello, should the owners so desire it, provided that when such transshipment takes place, it be authentically proved that the transit dues have been liquidated by the respective Custom House and discharged.

Article 4. The present law will come in force upon the expiration of the Treaty of Amity, Commerce and Navigation concluded between Venezuela and Denmark, the 19th December, 1862, and which having already been denounced, shall be binding for only one year from the date of such notification.

CHAPTER 4.

An Act to provide, during Twelve Months, A.D. 1903, for the Discipline and Regulation of the Army.

[30th April, 1903.]

WHEREAS the raising or keeping of a standing army within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in time of peace, unless it be with the consent of Parliament, is against law:

And whereas it is adjudged necessary by His Majesty and this present Parliament, that a body of forces should be continued for the safety of the United Kingdom and the defence of the possessions of His Majesty's Crown, and that the whole number of such forces should consist of two hundred and thirty-five thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, including those to be employed at the depôts in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the training of recruits for service at home and abroad, but exclusive of the numbers actually serving within His Majesty's Indian possessions:

And whereas it is also judged necessary for the safety of the United Kingdom, and the defence of the possessions of this realm, that a body of Royal Marine forces should be employed in His Majesty's fleet and naval service, under the direction of the Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom, or the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral aforesaid:

And whereas the said marine forces may frequently be quartered or be on shore, or sent to do duty or be on board transport ships or vessels, merchant ships or vessels, or other ships or vessels, or they may be under other circumstances in which they will not be subject to the laws relating to the government of His Majesty's forces by sea:

And whereas no man can be forejudged of life or limb, or subjected in time of peace to any kind of punishment within this realm by martial law, or in any other manner than by the judgment of his peers and according to the known and established laws of this realm; yet nevertheless it being requisite, for the retaining all the before-mentioned forces, and other persons subject to military law, in their duty, that an exact discipline be observed, and that persons belonging to the said forces who mutiny or stir up sedition, or desert His Majesty's service, or are guilty of crimes and offences to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, be brought to a more exemplary and speedy punishment than the usual forms of the law will allow:

And whereas the Army Act will expire 44 & 45 in the year one thousand nine hundred and three on the following days:

Executive Council Notice.

GUIANA PUBLIC BUILDINGS,

Georgetown, Demerara,

16th June, 1903.

THE following correspondence on the subject of a Weir which the Boerasirie Commissioners propose to place in the Creek of that name, is published for the information of all whom it may concern.

Any person who may consider that this work may affect him prejudicially may apply by petition to the Governor-in-Council within a period of three weeks from the date of this notice, in terms of section 19 of the Boerasirie Ordinance, 1889.

The plan and sketch referred to in the correspondence may be seen on application at the Office of the Government Secretary.

Secretary, Boerasirie Commissioners, to the Government Secretary, dated 16th February, 1903.

Sir,

I have the honour to hand you enclosed the plan showing Relief Weir suggested for the Boerasirie, and am directed by the Boerasirie Commissioners respectfully to request that the previous plan submitted be withdrawn, and this one approved.

I have, etc.,

(Signed) C. REY.

Government Secretary to the Secretary of the Boerasirie Commissioners, dated 2nd March, 1903.

Sir,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated the 16th ultimo, enclosing a plan showing the waste Weir suggested for the Boerasirie Conservancy, and in reply I am directed by the Governor to point out that there is nothing in your letter or plan to indicate where it is proposed to place the Weir, and information on this point is necessary.

2. The length of the crest of the waste Weir sixty feet seems sufficient, but with regard to the general construction, the front apron is shown too high up (it should be lower down nearly at the level of the Channel leading to the Creek below the dam), and approval of the plan generally can only be given on the understanding that a Channel of at least sixty feet width and at a depth of about 54 G.D. is dug leading to the waste Weir from the Conservancy, and that similarly a Channel at least sixty feet wide is dug to a proper depth from the foot of the waste Weir to the Creek leading out to sea.

3. On the Boerasirie Commissioners undertaking to carry out these works to the satisfaction of the Colonial Civil Engineer, and on the understanding that when levels are given the depth of the foundations of the Weir has not to be lower than is now shown on the plan submitted, permission will be given for the commencement of the work.

I have, &c.,

(Sgd.) A. M. ASHMORE.

The Secretary of the Boerasirie Commissioners to the Government Secretary, dated 2nd April, 1903.

Sir,

Referring to your letter, dated 2nd March, I have the honour to hand you enclosed a sketch of the proposed position for concrete Weir on the Boerasirie, and I am directed by my Commissioners to say that the existing channel leading to the Weir will be widened and deepened, as shown on the sketch, and also a channel 60 feet wide to a depth of 54 G.D. will be made leading from the Weir to the Creek.

2. The depth of the foundation of the Weir will not be lower than is shown on the plan submitted.

I have, &c.,

(Sgd.) C. REY.

Government Secretary to the Secretary of the Boerasirie Commissioners, dated 11th April 1903.

Sir,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated the 2nd instant, enclosing a sketch of the proposed position for the Weir on the Boerasirie, and in reply to observe that the level of the channel leading from the Weir to the creek was not specified by the Government to be 54 G.D., but to be "dug to a proper depth from the foot of the waste Weir," and that the Government would be glad to learn what is the level of the creek bed where this channel joins it, and whether, presuming the creek bed is lower than 54 G.D. the channel cannot also be deepened.

I have, &c.,

(Sgd.) J. HAMPDEN KING.

Secretary of the Boerasirie Commissioners to the Government Secretary, dated 14th May, 1903.

Sir,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 11th April, and in reply I am directed by the Boerasirie Commissioners to say that the level of the creek bed where the channel from the Weir will join it is about 50 G.D., and the Commissioners will do everything to deepen the channel leading from the foot of the Weir to creek.

I have, &c.,

(Sgd.) C. REY.

Note (a).—If the Homeward Mails, &c., are embarked in time, and the Packet be in all other respects ready, she may start from Colon the previous evening, but the departure from Jamaica homeward is not to be accelerated, unless from Quarantine or other causes the Packet may have to coal at another Port, in which case she may leave Jamaica as soon as she is ready. In an exceptional case, the departure from Colon may be somewhat later than the Table Time, provided that the authorized stay at Jamaica is not curtailed nor the departure from that Port retarded.

Note (b).—If either of the Steamers on the Branch Routes has not reached Barbados, the Packet is to await the arrival of the missing Vessel two clear days, if necessary; otherwise the Packet is to start for England the moment the Mails, &c., from the several Branch Packets and from Barbados have been received on board, and she is in all respects ready for sea.

Note (c).—Should the tide not suit for leaving Demerara at the hour appointed in this Table, the Packets may leave at any earlier hour at which the tide may suit, or by the next tide after the appointed time.

Note (d).—The Packet may remain at St. Thomas later when necessary for docking, if it be found in practice that she can reach Barbados early enough not to risk delaying the departure of the Homeward Packet.

Where the time specified for arrival at a Port is after dark, the Packet may remain outside the Harbour until daylight; and as regards St. John's (Antigua), unless the Packet arrives in time to admit of her leaving so as to get well clear of surrounding dangers during daylight, she may remain till the following morning.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

GENERAL CIVIL JURISDICTION

THIS 12TH DAY OF JUNE, 1903.

LEGGATT, Plaintiff,
versus

FOGEL, et al, Defendants.

This is an application by the plaintiff (1) for an order directing the defendants to vouch the accounts filed by them in accordance with the order of Court made on the 6th January, 1903, by depositing in the Registry of Court the vouchers for the items charged in such accounts and the account sales for the precious stones sold by them, a number being given to each voucher and account sale corresponding with the number of the item to which it relates, and (2) for an extension of the time for filing objections to the accounts.

The plaintiff bases his application on the facts that he has no personal knowledge of the correctness or otherwise of the accounts kept by the defendants, and that in the absence of vouchers it is impossible for him to say whether the accounts filed are correct or not or open to objection or not, and on the power of the Court to make such an order either under Order xxix. r. 2 of the Rules of Court, 1900, or under its general power over all proceedings therein.

For the defendants it is contended that the Rule referred to is taken from the English Rules of Court 1883, Order xxxii. Rule 3, which was itself taken from the Chancery Procedure Act, 1852, (15 and 16, Vict. c. 86) s. 54, that the English decisions shew that applications under that provision have generally (if not exclusively) been made by the person ordered to account and not by the person at whose instance the account is taken, and the orders thereunder have been limited to directing the acceptance of evidence in support of an account inferior to that which might strictly be required, and that Rule 2 of Order xxix of the local Rules of Court must receive the same interpretation as that placed on the English Rule, and that the Court has no power to make the order asked.

We are unable to agree with this argument. Ceteris paribus a local Rule of Court adopted from the English Rules should, we think, receive the same construction as that given the English Rule, but where a local rule of court in the same language as the English Rule is inserted among other provisions varying widely from the English procedure and practice, the local rule must, we think, be construed with reference to those provisions, and a reasonable interpretation placed on it. The practice in England prior to the Rule 4a, Order xxxiii. (English Rules) may be stated in general terms as being that the accounting party (unless the Court otherwise ordered) in addition to verifying his account by affidavit as required by Rule 4 of that order had to verify his account before the Chief Clerk (or Master as he is now styled) which he did by production of vouchers, or his own oath in case of small sums (D. C. P. 6th edition pp. 1,050-1054) the affidavit verifying his account was (as stated in one case) "an admission on oath of sums with which he was to be charged but did not operate as a discharge" and he could be cross examined on it, after due notice, either before or after the account was vouched (Meacham v. Cooper, L. R., 16 Eq. 102) any party interested could attend the vouching of the account and raise objections to the proof given in support of items, and it was only in case of his wishing to surcharge the accounting party that he was bound to give notice of his intention. The English procedure and practice therefore provided for any interested party seeing the vouchers etc., when produced before the Chief Clerk (or Master), and he could then raise any objection he thought fit. To avoid the expense caused by this practice, Rule 4a, already mentioned was introduced to enable parties to see the vouchers, and thus determine before they came into the judge's chambers what items they would contest and surcharge and limit the proceedings therein to such items (Re Fish (1883) 2 Ch. pp. 426, 427). The local Rules of Court, on the other hand, contain no express provision as to the vouching of accounts, they provide only for the filing of the accounts and of an affidavit verifying them, and they provide that if any party wishes not merely to surcharge but even to reduce credits he must file objections, and that if no memorandum of objections be filed, the correctness of the accounts shall be deemed to be admitted, (Order xxix. r. 5). It appears to us impossible to believe that the framers of the Rules or the Legislature which approved them intended that in all cases without exception unvouched accounts, supported only by an affidavit should be deemed prima facie correct and the onus of disputing them without knowledge of the vouchers in support thereof should lie on all persons interested other than the accounting party, and the reasonable construction of O. xxix, Rule 2, read with the other rules is, in our opinion, that while in simple cases where no question is raised by any party interested, the affidavit verifying the account filed is a sufficient voucher the Court can under that Rule, where it deems it necessary or expedient to do so, give directions as to the more complete vouching of any account filed or directed to be filed. It may be added, that even if the local Rules as to accounts did not admit of this construction which is, we think, the correct one, and had to be construed strictly as the corresponding English Rules, then as Rule 2, of Order xxxiii, implies that there is an ordinary method of vouching accounts, and as it is clear that the affidavit verifying an account is not a substitute for vouchers under the English practice, the Court could, in our opinion, under the power given by sect. 38 of the Supreme Court Ordinance, 1893, make the order asked in this case.

The facts on which the plaintiff relies are undisputed, and we think a sufficient ground has been laid for the order asked which we therefore make, the vouchers and account sales to be deposited within eight days of the date of this order. It having been agreed between the parties that the plaintiff should, if this order were made, have an extension of time for taking objections for twenty-eight days after the deposit of the vouchers, the Court orders accordingly.

The question by whom the costs of so vouching the accounts should be borne is reserved for consideration when the costs of the action are finally dealt with. So far as the costs of this application are concerned, the defendants have complied with the Rules of Court in filing their accounts: those Rules were known to both parties and no reason is shown why this application should not have been made at the hearing and the costs of a special application avoided. The plaintiff must therefore bear those costs.

TRADE SAMPLES FOR CANADIAN EXHIBITIONS.

OWING to the success of last year's exhibit at Toronto, Dr. Morris, Commissioner of Agriculture for the West Indies, has urged upon this Government the desirability of having "trade samples and samples of West Indian products—as distinct from curios and fancy articles—annually shown at all the Industrial Exhibitions held in the Dominion of Canada." There are four principal Exhibitions held annually, viz., at Halifax, St. John (New Brunswick), Ottawa and Toronto, and if two sets of exhibits were prepared, one could be sent to Halifax and St. John, and the second to Ottawa and Toronto. The exhibits could afterwards be distributed to the Board of Trade centres, and thus reach every part of Canada.

The Royal Agricultural and Commercial Society are willing to receive and forward such exhibits as may be prepared in this Colony, which they consider should consist only of trade products and articles likely to become such in the future. The articles most suitable are:—

SUGARS, RUM, MOLASSES, CONCENTRATED MOLASSES, CATTLE FOOD, TIMBER, BALATA, LOCUST GUM, COFFEE, CACAO, KOLA, RICE, TOBACCO, CIGARS, GOLD QUARTZ, etc.

The exhibits should be in duplicate, and it is recommended that the labels be placed at the base of the bottles so that as much of the specimen as possible may be seen. The latest date for shipment is the 20th of July, and if sent to the Assistant Secretary, at the Reading Rooms, before that date, they will be forwarded without expense to the exhibitor.

N.B.—Products that cannot be supplied to order should not be sent.

By Command,

N. DARNELL DAVIS,
Acting Government Secretary.

REFERRING to Government Notice No. 268, of the 2nd instant, His Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following further Circular from His Honour the Administrator of Grenada, with reference to the existence of eruptive fever in that island:—

CIRCULAR.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Grenada, 18th June, 1903.

Sir,—With reference to my circular letter of the 21st ultimo, I have the honour to inform you that there remain at this date only three cases of eruptive fever in isolation in the island of Grenada, two of which will be discharged next week, the last case, a contact from Carriacou, which was admitted on the 5th instant, will necessarily be some time longer under observation, and it is isolated at a station in the north of the island, 24 miles from the principal town.

2. In Carriacou, as the result of several house to house inspections, all cases have been properly isolated, 23 being now under treatment at the station. In Petit, Martinique, there remains only one case, and that was introduced from Union Island, one of the St. Vincent Grenadines, where it is understood that preventive measures have since been adopted. The case was immediately isolated upon detection and is of a mild type.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,
Your obedient Servant,
EDWARD DRAYTON,
Administrator.

The Honourable
The Government Secretary,
British Guiana.

Executive Council Notice.

GUIANA PUBLIC BUILDINGS,

Georgetown, Demerara,

16th June, 1903.

THE following correspondence on the subject of a Weir which the Boerasirie Commissioners propose to place in the Creek of that name, is published for the information of all whom it may concern.

Any person who may consider that this work may affect him prejudicially may apply by petition to the Governor-in-Council within a period of three weeks from the date of this notice, in terms of section 19 of the Boerasirie Ordinance, 1889.

The plan and sketch referred to in the correspondence may be seen on application at the Office of the Government Secretary.

Secretary, Boerasirie Commissioners, to the Government Secretary, dated 16th February, 1903.

Sir,

I have the honour to hand you enclosed the plan showing Relief Weir suggested for the Boerasirie, and am directed by the Boerasirie Commissioners respectfully to request that the previous plan submitted be withdrawn, and this one approved.

I have, etc.,

(Signed) C. REY.

Government Secretary to the Secretary of the Boerasirie Commissioners, dated 2nd March, 1903.

Sir,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated the 16th ultimo, enclosing a plan showing the waste Weir suggested for the Boerasirie Conservancy, and in reply I am directed by the Governor to point out that there is nothing in your letter or plan to indicate where it is proposed to place the Weir, and information on this point is necessary.

2. The length of the crest of the waste Weir sixty feet seems sufficient, but with regard to the general construction, the front apron is shown too high up (it should be lower down nearly at the level of the Channel leading to the Creek below the dam), and approval of the plan generally can only be given on the understanding that a Channel of at least sixty feet width and at a depth of about 54 G.D. is dug leading to the waste Weir from the Conservancy, and that similarly a Channel at least sixty feet wide is dug to a proper depth from the foot of the waste Weir to the Creek leading out to sea.

3. On the Boerasirie Commissioners undertaking to carry out these works to the satisfaction of the Colonial Civil Engineer, and on the understanding that when levels are given the depth of the foundations of the Weir has not to be lower than is now shown on the plan submitted, permission will be given for the commencement of the work.

I have, &c.,

(Sgd.) A. M. ASHMORE.

The Secretary of the Boerasirie Commissioners to the Government Secretary, dated 2nd April, 1903.

Sir,

Referring to your letter, dated 2nd March, I have the honour to hand you enclosed a sketch of the proposed position for concrete Weir on the Boerasirie, and I am directed by my Commissioners to say that the existing channel leading to the Weir will be widened and deepened, as shown on the sketch, and also a channel 60 feet wide to a depth of 54 G.D. will be made leading from the Weir to the Creek.

2. The depth of the foundation of the Weir will not be lower than is shown on the plan submitted.

I have, &c.,

(Sgd.) C. REY.

Government Secretary to the Secretary of the Boerasirie Commissioners, dated 11th April 1903.

Sir,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated the 2nd instant, enclosing a sketch of the proposed position for the Weir on the Boerasirie, and in reply to observe that the level of the channel leading from the Weir to the creek was not specified by the Government to be 54 G.D., but to be "dug to a proper depth from the foot of the waste Weir," and that the Government would be glad to learn what is the level of the creek bed where this channel joins it, and whether, presuming the creek bed is lower than 54 G.D. the channel cannot also be deepened.

I have, &c.,

(Sgd.) J. HAMPDEN KING.

Secretary of the Boerasirie Commissioners to the Government Secretary, dated 14th May, 1903.

Sir,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 11th April, and in reply I am directed by the Boerasirie Commissioners to say that the level of the creek bed where the channel from the Weir will join it is about 50 G.D., and the Commissioners will do everything to deepen the channel leading from the foot of the Weir to creek.

I have, &c.,

(Sgd.) C. REY.

By Command,

D. C. CAMERON,
Acting Clerk of Council.
